Deporting of Belgians Arouses United States; Germany Given Warning

Berlin Is Told That Sending of Belgians Into Germany for Forced Labor Is Having Unfortunte Effect on Neutral Opinion.

GERMANY IS VIOLATING LAW AND HER PLEDGES

American Charge Grew, at Berlin, Instructed to Take the Matter Up Personally With Kaiser's Chancellor. United States Acting Independently.

Washington, November 14.—Deportation of Belgian civilians into Germany for forced labor has reached such serious proportions that American Charge Grew, at Berlin, has been directed by the state department to take the matter up personally with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg. The charge was requested to say that such deportations could but have a most unfortunate effect on neutral opinion, particularly in the United States, which has the welfare of the Belgian civilian population very much at heart.

The instructions, it was learned today, grew out of a long report from Charge Grew, in which he stated that he had discussed the situation informally and unofficially with Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs Zimmerman. The latter admitted that a definite policy had been adopted to enforce the labor of Belgians in cases where they would not work voluntarily, on the ground that so many refused to work as to make the strain on public charity intolerable.

Violation of Germany's Pledges.

The deportations are viewed here not only as a violation of international law, but in a degree as a violation of Germany's assurances to Ambassador Gerard last June, which, though relating to the 20,000 French women and girls deported from Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing, are felt to be applicable to the Belgian situation. At that time, when Ambassador Gerard had gone to general headquarters in France to discuss the attack on the Sussex with Emperor William, all the American relief workers in northern France were called into conference and assurances given by the Germans that no further deportations would be made. The case of the Belgians is considered identical in principle.

Reports from Rome that the United States had joined or will join the vatican, Spain and The Netherlands in a joint protest are declared untrue. In this question, as in many others that have arisen during the war, the United States will act independently

The deportations are regarded by some officials here as an attempt to release Germans workers for the firing line by replacing them with Belgians. More than any other one thing this is expected to increase the bitterness of the allies toward the Germans and their desire for peace through a crushing victory. Foreign Minister Beyens and Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, have issued public appeals to the neutral nations to effect a cessation of the deportations. England also is deeply concerned.

Method of Deportations.

Reports as to the execution of the deportations vary in detail, but not in principle. Those who go to Germany voluntarily are made to sign a general free-will contract under which they are assured good food, a salary, guarantee of care for their families and freedom of correspondence with them. Those refusing to sign are said to be coerced, where possible, through imprisonment. If this is unsuccessful in securing signature, the labor is compulsory at 30 pfennigs a day without provision for families or permission to correspond.

The deportations assumed their most systematic form when, on October 10, the German governor general was reported to have requested the presidents

20 CENTS REACHED BY ATLANTA SPOTS

Spot cotton sold in Atlanta yesterday for 20 cents, its highest price since the civil war.

Samuel Martin, of the Atlanta Warehouse company, reports that the 20-cent quotation does not represent a few scattered sales, but, on the contrary, the transfer of a considerable quantity of the staple, sufficient to establish 20 cents as the market price at the close of the day's trading. The close was steady, and with good cables from Liverpool expected in the morning by financial experts, the outlook for a further gain seems good.

The advance in the local market was attributed to the record gains made by futures in New York and New Orleans as well as to basic reasons for the rise in futures—steady demand, cold weather in the western belt, the census bureau's bullish report on American mill consumption and good quotations from Liverpool.

Quotations of 20 cents for spot cotton were also reached in Galveston and Houston. Middling in New Orleans brought 19.35.

In the New York exchange cotton for May delivery went to 20.37 cents, March to 20.20 and January to 20.05. The close was not much lower, that for January being 20.02.

In New Orleans the cotton exchange records were shattered when closing prices above the 20-cent mark were registered. May and July passed 20 cents early in the day's trading, and although the market sagged slightly shortly after the 20-cent price was posted because of a rush to realize by holders of long contracts, those options weathered the rush and continued to advance on later reports of high prices for spots, finally closing at the highest quotation ever registered on this exchange. May was 20.06 and the closing price was 20.04. The July option closed at 20.15, or within a point of the high price of the day.

SHE CHARMED MEN AND GOT THOUSANDS WITHOUT SECURITY

Chicago, November 14.—Miss Annie E. Sharpley, who borrowed $80,000 from wealthy Chicagoans without security by her mere powers of persuasion, admitted today she was the same Annie Sharpley who once was sent to the federal penitentiary from Philadelphia for forgery. Miss Sharpley's affairs became public after she filed a petition in bankruptcy scheduling $80,000 in debts and declaring that her extensive poultry farm here had been sacrificed to her longing to have produced a play she had written. The entire value of the farm, she said, had been spent in inducing David Belasco to produce the play.

Today she admitted that her adventure in theatricals had cost her only $8,000, and that she had not dealt with any producer but an imposter.

Miss Sharpley's creditors are Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, who signed notes for $47,000, and Herman Cohen, a pawnbroker, who she declared had loaned her $20,000 without security.

Miss Sharpley said the money had gone for the support of an Englishman whom she had loved in her girlhood. He was killed recently in battle, she said.

Cohen, after listening to her story today, announced that he would stand by her, and Mrs. Blackstone said she was prepared to lend her even more money if necessary. Miss Sharpley said she could repay the loans if given time.

The Spirit of Early Shopping Is Abroad in the Land

Christmas shopping this year, in spite of the proverbial custom of putting the campaign off until the eleventh hour, is going to begin early, and be continued enthusiastically. Indeed, Christmas shopping has already begun—there seems to have been an accepted conclusion on the part of the public that early shopping this year is imperative—and, in truth, it is. Soaring cotton is quickening the buying impulse; and the present prospects of early depletion of many varieties of holiday merchandise is creating a keen interest in early purchases.

All the stores and shops catering to the Christmas trade are regular advertisers in The Constitution, and are prepared to store and care for all early-bought gifts, big or little. Included in the list of the Christmas stores are the hardware, furniture, drug and clothing stores; the book emporiums, the jewelry stores, department stores, and a host of novelty shops fairly dazzling with variety. Prices now will be found extremely reasonable. There seems no evidence jut now of the merchants charging higher prices than customary—indeed, in many instances, prices do not seem to be as high.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

That the creation by congress of a department of public health with a cabinet head is one of the most pressing needs confronting the second administration of President Wilson seemed to be the unanimous opinion of the members of the Southern Medical association last night, when it was decided to send a telegram to the president urging the necessity of such a department.

The telegram was signed by the president and secretary of the association and received the approval of the assembled physicians, who congratulated the president in the heartiest terms on his re-election and urged a preparedness policy which would save the lives of the 600,000 Americans who die annually from preventable diseases. The telegram follows:

"To His Excellency, Hon. Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

"The Southern Medical association, representing the medical profession of the sixteen southern states, in convention assembled in Atlanta, Ga., heartily congratulate you and the nation on your deserved re-election. We also desire to congratulate you on having as your physician a man of such marked ability and attainments as is possessed by Dr. Grayson, though we hope that you will need his services only as a health master engaged in keeping you well. We also urge you to observe the eight-hour working day in order that you may continue the 100 per cent president that you have been for the past four years.

Urge Health Department.

"We desire to commend you for your preparedness policy, but respectfully call your attention to the fact that 600,000 American citizens die every year from enemies in our country, preventable diseases, and that 5,000,000 more are ill each year. The greatest need of the nation is an adequate department of public health built up on the present United States public health service. The American Medical association, the Southern Medical association and other medical associations have gone on record favoring a department of health.

"More constructive legislation has been enacted during your administration than in any other period in our history, but there remains a great opportunity for your administration in the enactment of laws and the appropriation of funds for the protection of our people against unnecessary diseases like infantile paralysis, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and malaria.

"In order to remove the matter from partisan politics, we respectfully suggest that you call in conference the surgeon-general of the army, navy and public health service and your personal physician to advise the best method for sanitary preparedness.

(Signed) "ROBERT WILSON, JR., "President.

"SEALE HARRIS, Secretary."

Real Opening Day.

Tuesday was the real opening day of the convention.

Crowding through the great entrance of the Auditorium and Taft hall hundreds of medical men gathered in various parts of the great building, holding meetings, making addresses, examining exhibits, meeting friends and renewing acquaintances. It was a gala occasion for both the association and Atlanta, for in the ranks of the men is found the best, the most typically American character, the wise, wholehearted and sympathetic, alleviator of pain, the American physician. It was a great day and a great crowd. The crowd is congratulating Atlanta for the hospitalities shown, and Atlanta is congratulating the crowd on the great amount of brains, ability and service which is displayed At times, to the lay mind, the numerous "ologys" and "ics" palled. It was pretty deep water for a non-medical expert, yet at other times the subjects came down to every-day topics of public health, and they were understood and thoroughly enjoyed.

Memphis Wins Convention.

Numerous things occurred Tuesday, but chief among them possibly is the action of the council of the association in choosing the next city in which to hold the convention. Those cities which pushed their invitations to the limit were Chattanooga, New Orleans, Baltimore, St. Louis and Memphis. Each of these was represented and each had its ardent supporters. Each was given a hearing, but when the count came the invitation, the promises, the facilities and location of the Bluff City won. Memphis was chosen, and to Memphis next year will go the medicos, who this year are enjoying and lauding the hospitality of Atlanta.

CALIFORNIA STAYS IN WILSON COLUMN

Rumors Traceable to East About Shift to Hughes Are Baseless — Electors Not Likely to Be Split.

San Francisco, November 14.—Whether the highest vote for a republican elector in California was greater than the lowest vote for a democratic elector was about the only question of interest to California politicians tonight. If this should prove to be the case the state's delegation in the electoral college may be split. The republicans admittedly unearthed nothing in the course of the day to indicate for or against such a prospect.

Sidney M. Van Wyck, Jr., chairman of the democratic campaign committee, worked all day bringing in reports from little counties in the mountains where the county clerks had finished their count and also succeeded in getting one or two fair-sized counties. His total for twenty counties showed that the totals for the lowest democratic elector in each county added 6,466 more than the totals for the highest republican elector in the same counties. This count would show, when completed, the Wilson electoral vote at its lowest ebb, Mr. Van Wyck said.

That is to say, if the lowest democratic totals are finally ahead of the highest republican totals a solid delegation in the electoral college is assured. If the highest republican totals exceed the lowest democratic totals this will not necessarily indicate that any republican elector wins because the lowest democrat and the highest republican are not the same in all counties.

Republicans and democrats alike manifested surprise at rumors, traceable in all cases to the east, that a considerable error had been found somewhere in the state in counting the votes.

"The mistake as reported would have to be in San Francisco, Alameda or Los Angeles county," said Mr. Van Wyck. "It is none of them and, so far as we have been able to learn, it does not exist. The final count will show no material change."

Reports from republican headquarters were similar.

Los Angeles, Cal., November 14.—A net gain of 190 votes was made by Charles E. Hughes today in the first day's official count of the presidential vote cast Tuesday. Twenty-two errors were discovered by the board of supervisors, resulting in Hughes' gain of 150 votes, loss of 15, and President Wilson's loss of 55, giving the republican candidate a net gain of 190.

HUGHES GAINS IN MINNESOTA.

St. Paul, Minn., November 14.—The Hughes lead in Minnesota suffered many changes today, but tonight stood at slightly more than 1,000. Returns came slowly into the capital today and there were several differences between them and unofficial returns previously published. There was a consistent gain for Hughes in the afternoon figures. The vote tonight, after a complete recheck, stood: Wilson 178,260, Hughes 179,264. Hughes' plurality 1,004.

ICE, AND MAYBE SNOW, DUE TO ARRIVE TODAY

Cold Will Last Several Days and May Prove Winter's Forerunner.

Cold weather—real cold weather—is due in Atlanta today.

Ice and maybe snow is promised by the weather man. The official forecast reads: "Very light rain Wednesday, possibly changing to light snow."

The report further states that freezing temperatures are expected for the city during the day and the lowest temperature during the cold wave, which will last for several days, is expected to come Thursday morning.

The official mercury Tuesday afternoon registered 56 degrees. By Wednesday afternoon an additional drop of 24 degrees is expected, bringing the mercury down to freezing for the first time this winter, and the city will probably see its first ice.

Forerunner of Winter.

The cold wave is expected to be only the forerunner of the winter season. All overcoats that have not been purchased or brought forth from their hiding places should be gotten ready for use.

From Nashville came the report of the lowest temperature. The reading there dropped to 28 degrees. Birmingham reported 40 degrees. Nashville reported sleet. A further drop at both places is expected.

A tropical storm is evident from the eastern portion of the gulf. Light rains have been reported from the major portion of the cotton belt, changing to sleet in many places and to snow at Nashville. Snow flurries are possible in northern Georgia, including Atlanta, during the day, says the weather report.

Coldest in Northwest.

The coldest parts of the country are in the northwest. Lander, Wyo., reported 10 degrees below zero. Portions of Colorado and Nebraska reported 8 degrees below zero. From some portions of Iowa and Nebraska and South Dakota the mercury was reported 4 degrees below.

Snow and sleet have been falling during the past twenty-four hours through the New England states, portions of interior New York, the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi valley, with sleet and snow in the Ohio valley and in parts of Tennessee.

The tropical storm in the gulf is expected to intensify the cold in the southern and coast states. Many parts of Texas reported extreme cold. Storm warnings have been hoisted from Tampa to Jupiter inlet for the first time since 1915. Many lakes in the Adirondacks have been frozen over and snow to the depth of about 18 inches has fallen.

TRADE BLACKLIST STOUTLY DEFENDED BY GREAT BRITAIN

It Is Denied That Rights of Netural Traders Under International Law Have Been Ruthlessly Cancelled.

BLACKLIST MEASURE MUNICIPAL REGULATION

Concerning Only British Government and British Citizens — American Demand That American Firms Be Stricken From List Not Granted.

Washington, November 14.—The British reply to the latest American note protesting against the trade blacklist, made public tonight by the state department, denies that rights of neutral traders under international law have been ruthlessly cancelled, defines the blacklist measure as a municipal regulation plainly concerning only the British government and British citizens and contends that it is designed to shorten the war.

The note failed to meet the American demand that the names of American firms be stricken from the blacklist, but attemps to convince the state department that the British position is just and founded on law. It leaves open the door for further negotiation, which is expected to follow.

The note was subscribed by Viscount Grey, the British foreign minister, and was addressed to and transmitted by Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador at London.

Subject of Peace.

A part which attracted much official notice dealt with the subject of peace, based on the theory that one American contention had been that there exists no military necessity for the blacklist, that it is unnecessary for the allies to prejudice neutral commerce and that nothing which happens in distant neutral countries can influence the result of the great conflict.

"If that really were the position," says the note, "it is possible that the measures taken by his majesty's government might be described as uncalled for, but it is not. We may well wish that it were so. Even though the military situation of the allies has greatly improved, there is still a long and bitter struggle in front of them, and one which in justice to the principles for which they are fighting imposes upon them the duty of employing every opportunity and every measure which they can legitimately use to overcome their opponents.

"One observation which is very commonly heard is that certain belligerent acts, even though lawful, are too petty to have any influence in a struggle of such magnitude. It is, I know, difficult for those who have no immediate contact with war to realize with what painful anxiety men and women in this country must regard even the smallest acts which tend to increase, if only by a hair's breadth, the danger in which their relatives and friends daily stand, or to prolong, if only by a minute, the period during which they are to be exposed to such perils.

"Whatever inconvenience may be caused to neutral nations by the exercise of belligerent rights, it is not to be compared for an instant to the suffering and loss occasioned to mankind by the prolongation of the war even for a week."

Acts of German Business Houses.

In its argument the note points out that German business houses throughout the world have furthered the cause of Germany in the war, and have been active agents "for the dissemination of German political and social influence and for the purposes of espionage."

"In some cases," continues the note, "they have even been used as bases of supply for German cruisers, and in other cases organizers and paymasters of miscreants employed to destroy by foul means factories engaged in making, or ships engaged in carrying, supplies required by the allies. Such operations have been carried out in the territory even of the United States itself, and I am bound to observe, what I do not think will be denied, that no adequate action has yet been taken by the government of the United States to suppress breaches of neutrality of this particularly criminal kind, which I know that they are the first to discountenance and deplore.

"In the face of enemy activities of this nature it was essential for His Majesty's government to take steps that should at least deprive interests so strongly hostile of the facilities and advantages of unrestricted trading with British subjects. The public opinion of this country would not have tolerated the prolongation of the war by the continued liberty of British subjects to trade with and so enrich the firms in foreign countries whose wealth and influence were alike at the services for the enemy."

The note is based largely on the argument that there is no assumption by Great Britain of power to interfere with neutral traders, but that the blacklist is a matter of municipal law enjoining British subjects from trading with persons found to be assisting or rendering service to the enemy. It disclaims any intention of imposing disabilities or penalties on neutral states.

Right of Great Britain.

"I can scarcely believe," it says, "that the United States government intends to challenge the right of Great Britain as a sovereign state to pass legislation prohibiting all those who owe her allegiance from trading with any specified persons when such prohibi-

GERMANS YIELDING AS BRITISH STRIKE WITHOUT CESSATION

Gen. Haig's Forces Continue Their Great Drive in Ancre River Region of the Somme Front and Have Captured More Strong German Positions.

OVER 5,000 GERMANS HAVE BEEN CAPTURED SINCE THE DRIVE BEGAN

And More Are Constantly Being Brought In—Three Villages Have Been Taken by the British, and There Is No Indication of Let-Up in Offensive—Germans Admit Heavy Losses.

New York, November 14.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—The British drive begun early Monday morning amid fog and rain in the region of the Ancre river in France has netted them another village—Beaucourt, on the north bank of the Ancre. The capture of this village makes three that have fallen into British hands since the advance began, the other two being Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre Divion. There is no indication that the offensive has ceased at any point along the five-mile front.

In the drive the British thus far have taken more than 5,000 German prisoners, and, according to the latest report, more captives are being brought in.

Aside from the gains in the Ancre region, the British also have made an advance to the east of the Butte de Warlencourt, about three miles southeast of the important town of Bapaume.

To the south of the Somme the Germans are busily engaged in shelling French positions in the region of Pressoire and on the sector of Blaches-La-Maisonnette with the French vigorously replying. On the remainder of the front only bombardments have occurred.

Aside from artillery duels in the Trentino region and desultory artillery activity along the remainder of the line, quiet prevails in the Austro-Italian theater.

The artillery duel between the Russians and Austro-Germans along the Narayuvka river in Galicia continues. Otherwise only unimportant engagements have taken place on the eastern front from the Baltic to the Carpathians.

BRITISH CONTINUE TO DRIVE GERMANS IN ANCRE SECTOR

London, November 14.—The British have captured Beaucourt, on the Somme front, as a result of the continuation of their powerful drive begun yesterday.

The prisoners taken by the British number more than five thousand up to the present, according to the official bulletin issued tonight.

The text reads:

"The village of Beaucourt-Sur-Ancre is in our hands. The prisoners reported to date number considerably over five thousand and more are coming in.

"Today a local advance was made east of Butte de Warlencourt; practically all our objectives were gained. Some eighty prisoner were taken in this area."

The British official statement issued in the afternoon said:

"We stormed the heavily-fortified village of Beaumont-Hamel and advanced to the outskirts of Beaumont-Sur-Ancre. The number of prisoners is increasing considerably. Over four thousand have passed through collecting stations since yesterday morning.

"The fighting continues."

BAPTISTS ASK PROBE OF LIMITS PLACED ON ARMY'S RELIGION

Pass Attorney General Walker's Resolution Demanding Congressional Investigation of Alleged Censoring of Sermons to Troops.

PLAN HOLDING BODY FOR BAPTIST SCHOOLS

Strenuous Campaign to Wipe Out All Debts of Educational Institutions Urged by Committee of Five.

Commerce, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—The passing of resolutions demanding a congressional probe of alleged conditions limiting worship among United States soldiers and sailors and the recommendation that a commission of seven be appointed to hold the properties of all Baptist educational institutions in the state, were outstanding features of today's session of the Georgia Baptist convention here.

The resolution in reference to worship among soldiers and sailors was introduced by Attorney General Clifford Walker and was passed unanimously. It is the outgrowth of an incident at the border recently, when, it is reported, J. B. Gambrell, of the Texas Baptist Mission board, requested of General Funston permission to hold meetings among the troops and received a reply from the general which imposed such restrictions that Mr. Gambrell felt obliged to give up the meetings. It is stated that General Funston declared that he did not want revivals held in the camps and made the condition that the men were not to be told that "they were lost."

Censoring of Views.

The resolution points out that religious freedom and freedom of speech are fundamental American principles, and urges that Georgia's congressmen ask congress to investigate the religious life of the army and navy, the possible "censoring" of religious views, the appointment of chaplains and other features affecting the rights of the men to worship as they wish.

The recommendation in reference to the Baptist institutions of learning in Georgia, including Mercer and Bessie Tift colleges, was made by the committee of five and read by F. C. McConnell, of Druid Hills church, Atlanta. It urges that a commission of seven be legally chartered to act as the servant of the convention for the purpose of holding these school properties, though it would have no control of their educational policies.

The proposal to form a holding commission has been so approved by individual Baptists that the sum of $60,071 has been subscribed toward defraying the indebtedness of these institutions provided this scheme is put into effect. It is suggested that the convention vote on the project at the present session.

The total indebtedness of all Baptist schools and colleges in Georgia is $524,880, and the committee urges that a vigorous campaign be inaugurated under an efficient salaried leader to wipe this out.

The Baptist Orphans' home, the committee reports, has paid up in full its previously reported debt of $15,866.

The committee of five, whose report will doubtless be discussed Wednesday morning, is composed of Dr. John D. Mell, Dr. F. C. McConnell, Dr. L. G. Hardman, Z. H. Clarke and J. P. Nichols.

The annual sermon preached tonight by Dr. E. W. Peel, was a masterly effort and was greatly enjoyed by the delegates.

Dr. Mell Re-elected.

Dr. John D. Mell was re-elected president. Other officers were named as follows: Vice presidents, E. W. Stine, of Newnan; C. J. Hood, Commerce; John M. Green, Atlanta, and Graham Forrester, of West Point; secretary, Rev. B. D. Ragsdale, and assistant secretary, A. Chamblee.

Dr. H. A. Porter, of Atlanta, led the devotional exercises at the regular morning hour. Reports on education, missions, the B. Y. P. U., Sunday schools, orphans' homes and hospitals were read, showing progress of a material nature all along the line. Dr. E. C. Dargan, of Macon, introduced resolutions of commendation on the life and character of Dr. James M. Frost, of the Sunday school board, who recently died.

General Mission Work.

Dr. A. C. Cree, corresponding secretary of the state mission board; Dr. P. D. M. Gray, of the home mission board, Atlanta; Dr. J. T. Henderson, secretary of the Layman's Movement, Richmond, Va.; Dr. T. B. Ray, secretary of the foreign mission work at Richmond, and Alex W. Bealer, reporter preacher, made great addresses on general mission work. Dr. N. J. McGlorthlin, of Louisville, Ky., spoke in behalf of the Southern Baptist seminary at Louisville, Ky., the largest Protestant seminary in the world.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS TO BRITISH.

Berlin, November 14.—(Via London.) The stubborn defense made by the Germans of the positions near the River Ancre which were attacked yesterday by the British caused the defenders to suffer important losses, the war office announced today.

The capture by the British of Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre Divion, with the latteral connecting lines is reported."

The statement says:

"Western Theater: Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht: On both sides of the River Ancre yesterday there was violent fighting. Strong attacks prepared by concentrated artillery fire of the heaviest calibers were launched against our positions, forming an agle to the southwestward. The enemy, under considerable sacrifices, succeeded in pushing us back from Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre Divion, together with the lines adjoining leading into the prepared positions.

"Our tenacious defense caused us considerable losses.

"Other places on the front were under attack from the east of Hebuterne as far as the south of Grandcourt. Wherever the British had entered they were ejected by the brisk counter attacks of our infantry.

"French attacks in the sector of Sailly-Saillisel failed.

"Army Group of the German Crown Prince: On the east bank of the River Meuse (Verdun region) there was a lively artillery fire in the evening hours. French reconnoitering advances against our Haudremont line were repulsed."

RUSSIANS CHECK TEUTONIC ATTACK IN CARPATHIANS

Petrograd, November 14.—(Via London.)—The following official announcement was given out here today:

"On the River Narayuvka in the region of Lipnicadolna and Svisteiniki (in Galicia, southwest of Lemberg) our scouts are making reconnaissances. The artillery and mine throwers also are active.

"In the wooded Carpathians an attack by the enemy in the region of Javornika and south of Pneva mountain was repulsed by our fire.

NOTHING IMPORTANT, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, November 14.—(Via Sayville.) The German war office today issued the following in regard to operations against the Russians:

"Eastern Theater: Front of Prince Leopold: There were no important engagements."

ARTILLERY DUELS MARK OPERATIONS ON TRENTINO LINE

Rome, November 13.—(Via London.) The war office today issued the following statement on military operations:

"On the Trentino front the artillery on both sides was active. We shelled transport columns and troops in motion in the Val Arsa, Colsanto and Folgaria areas and on the Conezza and Asiago plateaus.

"Hostile aircraft, with great persistence, attempted raids over our territory, but were driven off by our anti-craft batteries and by airplane attacks. In the upper Vanos valley an enemy squadron succeeded in dropping bombs on Canale San Dovo, killing two soldiers and some animals. On the remainder of the front to the sea some desultory artillery action occured. On the Carso we straightened out our line at several points, a heavy trench mortar, with ammunition, falling into our hands.

"On Sunday evening enemy hydroplanes dropped bombs on Ravenna, Ponte La Gosouro, Polesella, Magnavacca and Ariano Polesine. No casualities or damage resulted. Air raids on Roman, Vermagliano and Doberdo yesterday were equally fruitless.

"An enemy airplane attempted to attack one of our observation balloons. It was hit by our artillery and fell over the enemy's line near Nebresina."

HEAVY BATTERING FOR RUMANIANS

Austro-Germans Striving to Reach Decision—No Light on Dobrudja — Serbs Win Near Monastir.

New York, November 14.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—The Rumanian and Macedonian theaters continue the focal points of interest. The Austrians near Orosva and the junction of the Austrian-Rumanian and Serbian frontiers, have cleared the right bank of the Danube of Rumanians, a victory which probably means a lessening of the impediments the Rumanians have placed upon the navigation of the river in this region.

Again the Rumanians in the Alt valley of Transylvania have been pushed back by the Austro-German forces, who also have captured in the Jiul valley the village of Bumbeshti and forced the Rumanian left wing near Dragoslavele to give way. Up in the north the Russians have been compelled to retire from the Gyergyo mountains to the Rumanian frontier.

The situation in Dobrudja still remains to be clarified. Just what the Russo-Rumanian troops and the forces of the central powers are doing there is not known. Berlin, Petrograd and Bucharest say merely that the situation is unchanged.

On the Monastir plain of Serbia and north of the Cerna river troops of the entente allies are attacking the German-Bulgar lines. The battles have not reached a decision, according to Berlin.

RUMANIAN TROOPS FORCED TO RETIRE BEFORE INVADERS

Petrograd, November 14.—(Via London.)—The Austro-German forces which are invading Rumania have captured the village of Bumbeshti in the Jiul valley. In the Alt valley the Rumanians have been forced to retire. The official account reads:

"In Transylvania attacks of the enemy in the Trotus, Oituz and Tirgujuly valleys have been repulsed. In the Alt valley the enemy's persistent attacks succeeded in forcing back the Rumanian troops slightly. In the Jiul valley the enemy has taken possession of the village of Bumbeshti.

"The situation in Dobrudja is unchanged."

COUNTER ATTACKS BY RUMANIANS.

Bucharest, November 14.—(Via London.)—After repulsing attacks delivered without cessation since October 29 by Austro-German troops in the neighborhood of the Uzul valley on the northern Transylvania front, the Rumanians today made a successful counter attack, the war office announces.

The statement reads:

"On the western frontier of Moldavia, in the Trotus and Uzul valleys, our artillery silenced enemy guns. Between the Uzul valley and the valley of the River Casin the enemy has attacked without interruption from October 29 until today. All his attacks have been repulsed in sanguinary manner. We counter attacked and captured two officers, 81 men, three machine guns and some war material. From the Putna valley to Predelus there is nothing of importance to report apart from artillery bombardments and minor engagements. In the Prahova valley there has been an intense artillery bombardment.

"In the region of Dragoslavele the enemy attacked with infantry and heavy artillery, compelling our troops to give way on the left wing. On the right bank of the Alt the enemy violently attacked positions which changed hands several times and finally by employing fresh troops of superior numbers made progress. After desperate struggles our troops were compelled to withdraw to the south of Bumbeshti.

"On the southern front, along the Danube, there were no developments. The situation in Dobrudja is unchanged.

"Our flotilla arrived yesterday at Seimeni, on the Danube, north of Tchernavoda, and bombarded the enemy's left flank."

RUSSIANS RETIRE, GERMANS CLAIM.

Berlin, November 14.—(Via Sayville.) Russian forces have retired from the Gyergyo mountains, in northern Transylvania, to the Rumanian frontier, as a result of German and Austro-Hungarian attacks, says today's German official statemnt.

To the south of Tulghes pass, the statement adds, Bavarian and Austro-Hungarian battalions made progress despite the tenacious defense of the Rumanians.

The statement says:

"Front of Achduke Charles: Northeast of Jakobeny, in the forest of the Carpathians, Russians detachments were chased from the front of our positions by our fire.

"The Russians retired from the Gyergyo mountains to the frontier on account of attacks made by German and Austro-Hungarian troops.

"To the south of Tulghes pass Bavarian and Austro-Hungarian battalions made progress in spite of a tenacious defense.

"On both sides of Oituz pass yesterday there were minor engagements for some heights.

"On the Transylvanian south front the engagements continue successfully for us. An additional several hundred prisoners were made. At Rothenthurm pass six officers and 650 men were captured."

NO CHANGE IN DOBRUDJA.

Berlin, November 14.—(Via Sayville.) No new developments in the campaign in Dobrudja are reported in today's official statement by German army headquarters. An exploit by Austro-Hungarian monitors on the Danube, in which a Rumanian tow was captured, is announced.

The statement says:

"Front of Field Marshal von Mackensen (Dobrudja) there is nothing new to report. Austro-Hungarian monitors once more gave proof of their efficiency by bringing in after an engagement near the Rumanian bank of the Danube, in the vicinity of Giurgiu, seven boats of a tow, of which five were laden with cargo."

SERBIANS GAIN IN GREAT BATTLE ON CERNA RIVER

Saloniki, November 14.—(Via London.)—The following communication from Serbian headquarters was issued today:

"On Monday we fought sanguinary engagements with the Bulgarians and Germans on the Cerna Reka, which are not yet concluded. The enemy is offering stubborn resistance, hence certain trenches are repeatedly changing hands. At the close of the day we were in definite possession of very important enemy positions near Tepavtsi.

"Apart from enormous losses inflicted on the enemy in killed and wounded, we have taken a thousand prisoners, mostly Germans and including a German battalion commander and several German officers. The booty is important, but details are not available."

Paris, November 14.—(Via London.)—The French war office tonight issued the following in regard to operations in the Balkans:

"Army of the East: There was no infantry action yesterday. The artillery duel continued lively between the Cerna and Presba lake. The booty captured by the Franco-Serbians in the fighting from November 10 to 12 comprised twenty-five guns, including eight heavy guns, 21 caissons, a large number of rifles and grenades and other material. More than 1,447 prisoners were taken, among them twenty officers, one a colonel."

GERMANS REPORT ON OPERATIONS.

Berlin, November 14.—(Via Sayville.) Entente forces have attacked the German-Bulgarian lines on the Monastir plain along the Macedonian front, the war office announced today. The battle is still in progress both on this plain and north of Cerna.

The statement follows:

"Macedonian Front: In the district of Korca our reconnoitering detachments renewed their skirmishing with French infantry and cavalry.

"Attacks by entente troops on the Monastir plain and north of the Cerna are in progress, the fighting not yet being ended."

TRABUE TO TELL JURY HOW HE KILLED STOKES

Nashville, Tenn., November 14.—Charles C. Trabue, who shot and killed Harry S. Stokes, another attorney, in the latter's office April 26, tomorrow morning will go on the witness stand. He claims that he went to Stokes' office to ask him to sign a retraction of alleged insults and that when he presented the retraction Stokes attacked him and that he shot in self-defense. The state closed its case Monday and on motion of attorneys for the defense court was adjourned until tomorrow morning that they could have time to go over the evidence in the case.

BIRMINGHAM SCHOOLS FACING COAL FAMINE

Birmingham, Ala., November 14.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 school children in this city are facing a coal famine. School authorities announce that if coal is not furnished the institutions immediately the schools will suffer a shortage in a few days. Sixteen carloads of fuel are needed to supply the furnaces in the schools by the end of the week.

The near famine is attributed to the shortage of freight cars.

DR. OGDEN IS ELECTED MODERATOR OF SYNOD

Georgia Presbyterians Have Record Attendance at the Meeting in Dalton.

Dalton, Ga., November 14.—(Special.) Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Atlanta, was elected moderator of the synod of Georgia, which opened its sessions here this morning with a record attendance.

The opening sermon was preached by Dr. J. R. Sevier, of Augusta, Texas, from the text "Ye are the light of the world." It was an effective sermon dealing with the brightness of a life reflecting the light of Christ.

Rev. R. M. Mann was elected temporary clerk and the program of business was adopted.

Devotional exercises will be led Wednesday morning by Rev. J. E. Hemphill, fo Atlanta. Following this committees will be announced and communications addressed to the synod referred to these bodies.

Solemn services will take place at 11 o'clock, consisting of memorials to deceased ministers, a sermon by Dr. Ogden and the Lord's Supper.

During the afternon the delegates will be taken on auto rides to neighboring battlefields. The night session will be devoted to the consideration of foreign mission work.

CAPT. BENJAMIN YOUNG IS BURIED AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—The funeral of Captain Benjamin Young, who died here Sunday night, was held today at the home of his son, C. Bruce Young, and the remains were interred in the family plot in the city cemetery.

In the death of Captain Young Augusta loses one, who, in his day, was one of its foremost citizens and a man who was generally beloved throughout the community. From an obscure, unlearned carpenter in his young days he rose to the presidency of two of the city's largest banks, and was honored by being chosen, mayor of the city in 1895.

In his old age, however, he was overtaken by adversity, which he bore uncomplainingly and fearlessly. Although bereft of much of his earthly goods, Captain Young never lost the high place he held in the esteem and confidence of his fellow citizens, and his death is universally mourned throughout the community.

He was 78 years of age, and is survived by two sons, C. Bruce Young, of this city, and W. K. Young, of the editorial staff of The Charleston American.

William B. Fain.

William B. Fain, 32 years old, of 123 Tumlin street, died at a private hospital at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. He is survived by his widow and three children, Frederick, Frank and May; one brother, T. M. Faln, and two sisters, Mrs. Mollie McCollum and Mrs. Lola Gordon. The body was removed to the chapel of A. O. & Roy Donehoo.

Mrs. Ola F. Clements.

Mrs. Ola F. Clements, 57 years old, died Monday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Webb, at 23 Gresham street. She is survived by her husband, two brothers, J. R. and A. C. Webb, and by her mother.

Miss Mozella Lewis.

Miss Mozella Lewis, 28 years old, of 183 State street, died Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at a private hospital. The deceased is survived by her mother, two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Peacock and Mrs. Will Danford; three brothers, D. F. O., H. F. and J. W. Lewis. The body was removed to the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

CREDIT OF $50,000,000 ARRANGED FOR FRANCE

New York, November 14.—The $50,000,000 French credit recently arranged by a group of New York bankers in behalf of seventy-four large French industrial concerns, has been subscribed in full, it was announced today. The credit covers export of merchandise from this country to France, and enables the banks to get in direct contact with large industrial concerns in France.

DEPORTING OF BELGIANS AROUSES UNITED STATES

of the Comites Nationale de Secours, under penalty of imprisonment, to furnish lists of all Belgians receiving aid. Many of the presidents refused and were at once put in jail. On the basis of the lists that were obtained, however, drafts were begun at once. No accurate information has been received either as to how many have been deported or where. The work to which they have been sent is designated as "industrial."

GERMAN DECREE VERY SWEEPING.

Havre, November 14.—(Via Paris.)—The Belgian government is in possession of the text of a decree issued from German headquarters under date of October 3 subjecting to forced labor all Belgians able to work and who for want of employment or for any other reason are receiving public support. Those subject to this decree, it is pointed out, may be compelled to work away from their domiciles, that is, may be sent to Germany.

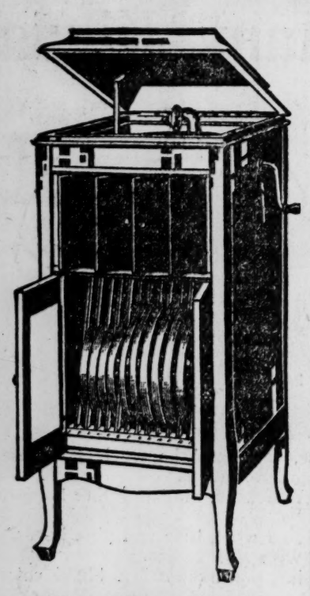

The Belgian government fears that the decree is about to be applied to whole occupied territory, as a census is being taken by the German military authorities of all the unemployed in Belgium. The German government's object, the Belgian government declares, in addition to ruining Belgian industry and forcing Belgian workmen to accept against their conscience work offered by the Germans, is thus to release German workmen for the purpose of supplying in the army losses incurred in the fighting.

If it were otherwise, the Belgian government contends, if the Germans only designed to combat the idleness of Belgian workmen, it could employ them on public works in the neighborhood of their homes and families, adding: "They have not done this, but, on the contrary, have sent out of the country or purposely deprived of employment workmen who had never ceased to work. The Germans have offered the attraction of high wages to those who consent voluntarily to deportation, and thus, by exciting hopes of bettering their lot, to do work directly connected with the war. The deported Belgian has thus the choice between starving and treason."

The Belgian government by every diplomatic means, it is understood, is placing the case before the neutral governments.

Now For a Sale of Dresses

In Which the Savings Are Large and the Styles the Approved of the Season

A Sale of Dresses!

A Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Sale of Dresses!

This is the important economic and fashion news of the day.

Two groups of the most attractive sorts of dresses that you could find in a day's search priced, priced at dollars less than they were yesterday—for every dress in the sale is one of our own.

The significance of that is that every dress has something about it that commended it to the good taste of those who study, who know fashions and who have a trained faculty of picking good things. The significance is that we didn't buy these dresses under price. The significance is that the savings that shall be yours in this sale are price reductions that we ourselves are making!

There are some ninety-two in all—not a great many, by no means so many as we could sell in a day at such prices (take this as a bit of advice as to the timing of your visit)—divided into two lots—

At $9.75 Dresses That Were $12.50, $13.50 to $15

At $14.75 Dresses That Were $19.50, $25 to $35

Those now $9.75—there are but thirty-four of them—are serges, navy, black and brown. "Straight" styles, as they are called, but they are variously straight with little jacket effect bodice, with full, round plaited skirts, with a touch of satin trimming here and there (collars and cuffs).

Those now $14.75! These are wonderful! There are fifty-eight of them, and a very, very few of them were $19.50; the great majority were $25.00 and upwards! Serge, serge and Georgette crepe, serge and charmeuse, jersey dresses—navy, black, brown, green, taupe and purple. Straight styles, basque-like affairs, belts touched with wool embroidery, fur trimmings, white broadcloth collars. It would be hard to find a style you would not like. See them—entirely too many different styles to give an adequate description of what is here.

DEMOCRATS WORK TO CONTROL HOUSE

Speaker Clark Confers With Chairman Doremus — Doremus Predicts Official Returns Will Give Democrats Control.

Washington, November 14.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house, reached Washington today and conferred with democratic leaders regarding the congressional election which, according to the latest unofficial returns, leaves control of the next house in doubt. The speaker first conferred with Representative Doremus, of Michigan, chairman of the democratic congressional committee, who predicted, despite unofficial returns indicating the election of five more republicans than democrats, that the final canvass would give the democrats control and that the speaker would be re-elected.

On the other hand, Representative Woods, of Iowa, chairman of the republican congressional committee, was insisting that complete returns would show republican gains instead of losses and that republicans would dictate the organization of the house.

Claims of Democrats.

Representative Doremus claimed early in the day at the white house that 212 democrats and only 211 republicans surely had been elected and that there were nine doubtful districts. He reiterated this later to Speaker Clark, Senator Stone, of Missouri, and other democratic leaders, enumerating districts which he believed would show democratic victories on the official count. During the day, however, there were no changes in the unofficial results, now indicating the election of 217 republicans, 212 democrats, two progressives, one progressive-protectionist, one independent, one socialist and one prohibitionist.

Representative Doremus in his statement of doubtful districts at the informal conference of party leaders, claimed that official returns would reverse the result and show the election of W. O. Martin, democrat, over W. P. Martin, progressive-protectionist, in Louisiana; Zebulon Weaver, democrat, over James J. Britt, republican, in North Carolina; Thomas J. Scully, democrat, over Robert Carson, republican, in New Jersey; Samuel W. Beakes, democrat, over Mark R. Bacon, republican, in Michigan; T. J. Steele, democrat, over G. C. Scott, republican, in Iowa, and M. Clyde Kelly, progressive, over William H. Coleman, republican, in Pennsylvania.

In addition Mr. Doremus insisted that Clyde H. Tavenner, Fourteenth Illinois; Harry B. Mitchell, Montana, at large, and Thomas G. Patten, Eighteenth New York, all apparently defeated by republicans, had excellent chances of ultimate success.

Disputed Districts.

Unofficial returns in disputed districts show the election of W. P. Martin, Louisiana, by 91 votes; Britt, North Carolina, by 13; Carson, New Jersey, by 11; Bacon, Michigan, by 100; Scott, Iowa, by 73; Coleman, Pennsylvania, by 20; Francis, Eighteenth New York, by 2,656, and Graham, Fourteenth Illinois, by 1,529.

Republican leaders are claiming that final results will show the election of A. J. Barchfield, republican, over Guy E. Campbell, democrat, in the Thirty-second Pennsylvania district, and Robert F. Duer, republican, over Jesse D. Price, democrat, in the First district of Maryland. Announcement of a contest in the Maryland district was made today. In the Thirty-second Pennsylvania district on the official count today Campbell, democrat, had made a net gain of fourteen votes in two Pittsburg wards.

Speaker Clark evinced great interest in the claims of the democratic congressional chairman, and remarked at the close of the conference that the situation was "very interesting."

"The only thing to be done," said the speaker, "is to watch the official count in all the districts and wait for the final results. Three times in the history of the government there have been prolonged contests over the election of a speaker. Twice it took three months and once it required two months and a half to elect the speaker.

First Long Fight.

"The first long fight was in 1851, when Howell Cobb, of Georgia, was elected speaker after a fight lasting more than two months, during which no party could get a majority. The fights which lasted three months ended in the election of Governor Pennington, of New Jersey, in 1860, and General Banks, of Massachusetts, in 1856. The struggle was hot in both these contests and they were only determined after the house had adopted a resolution which provided that only ten more ballots be taken, and if, on the tenth ballot, no candidate had a majority, the man who had the plurality should be declared elected. It was agreed that enough members would change their votes after the tenth ballot to give the candidate with the plurality the legal majority.

"The most interesting of these contests was that in 1856. John Sherman, republican, of Ohio, was the leading candidate. Every time Sherman would appear to be near of election a member named John B. Clark, of Missouri—not kin of mine—a radical secessionist, would denounce Sherman for having recommended an abolitionist book written by a man named Helper. These speeches ended Sherman's chances and Banks finally was elected."

MASKED ROBBER FINDS VICTIMS IN SLEEPING CAR

Kansas City, Mo., November 14.—As the Missouri Pacific's Omaha-Lincoln express train No. 108, was leaving Leavenworth, Kan., tonight for Kansas City, Mo., a masked robber entered the rear sleeping car, levelled a pistol at the four male passengers and the conductor, C. E. Schmitt, and obtained $96. Eighty dollars was taken from the conductor. The bandit then informed his victims that they might resume their seats. "I'll ride a piece with you," he said.

At intervals as one of the passengers would shift his position the pistol in the robber's hand would shift to cover him. When the train pulled into Kansas City, Kan., the man wished the victims a laughing "good night" and left the car.

WIDOW OF H. M. FLAGLER TO WED AND BUILD HOME

New York, November 14.—Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, widow of the railroad magnate, has taken title to ground on upper Fifth avenue valued at $1,000,000. The site is in the fashionable residential section and it is understood that Mrs. Flagler will build a mansion on it and make this city her home. Mrs. Flagler, who is reputed to be worth between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000, is to be married tomorrow to Judge Robert Worth Bingham, of Louisville, Ky.

CABRERA BLOCKING MEXICAN AGREEMENT

Attitude of Carranza's Agent May Defeat Object of Joint Commission.

Atlantic City, N. J., November 14.—Repudiation by Luis Cabrera today of a plan of border patrol that had been agreed upon by two of his colleagues and the three American representatives again has made doubtful the ability of the Americans on the Mexican-American joint commission to assist Mexico in its efforts to restore normal conditions along the frontier.

The Americans were hopeful tonight, but it was indicated by those in touch with them that further opposition, characterized as quibbling, would not long be tolerated.

There appeared reason to believe that unless the chairman of the Mexican commission adopted a more tractable manner he and his associates would be informed that further consideration of Mexico's social, economic and military problems must come to an end.

The agreemet that provided for the withdrawal of the American punitive expedition now in Chihuahua and for a method of dealing with border raiders in the future, was reached yesterday. Ignacio Bonillas and Alberto J. Pani, of the Mexican commission, concurring. Mr. Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican representation, went to Philadelphia, where he conferred with Rafael Nieto, sub-secretary of the department of finance, of which Mr. Cabrera is chief. It was when he reappeared in the commission room this morning that he announced his opposition to the details of the plan. It is known that his expression of dissatisfaction was vehement.

That the agreement for the withdrawal of the troops did not provide for their immediate reixrement was indicated. It stipulated, it is understood, that they should be brought out within a fixed time if within that period the Carranza government had demonstrated its ability to guard the border against raiding bandits.

The session at which Mr. Cabrera entered his protest against the adopted plan was not finished until long after noon. The Americans had expected to hold the usual second session in the afternoon, but Mr. Cabrera announced that it was necessary for him to return to Philadelphia. He was there tonight and there was no meeting this afternoon.

Wholesale Druggists.

Jacksonville, Fla., November 14.—The two days' session of the South Atlantic Wholesale Druggists' association came to a close here this afternoon. Following the get-together session this morning at which various topics pertaining to the drug business were discussed, the visitors were treated to an automobile ride around the city. Many of the delegates left this evening for their homes.

WILSON BLAMES MAN IN MIDDLE

For the High Cost of Foodstuffs—President Says the Farmers Must Increase Output — Nation Depends on Farm.

Washington, November 14.—President Wilson blamed middlemen for the high cost of foodstuffs here tonight in a speech welcoming to Washington the convention of the National Grange, the first formal speech he has delivered since the election. Urging that farmers increase their output, the president said:

"We ought to raise such big crops that circumstances like the present can never recur, when men can make as if the supply was so short that the middleman could charge for it what he pleased. It will not do to be niggardly with the rest of the world in respect to its food supply."

The president did not mention recent petitions to him to declare an embargo on exportation of foodstuffs from the United States to the rest of the world and he did not refer even indirectly to the outcome of the presidential election. His address was interrupted frequently by applause from the farmers attending the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the founding of the Grange.

Problems of Farmers.

"It seems to me," said the president, "that some of the most interesting problems of our life and of the life of the world lie before us, problems in connection with which the farmers of the United States will play a part such as they have never played before.

"It goes without saying that the physical life of the nation has always depended upon the farm. It goes without saying, also, that to a large extent the physical life of the world has drawn its sustenance from the great areas of farm land in the United States. We have sent food to all parts of the world, and the American farmers has contributed to the life of all the countries of the world. But you know that as our own population has increased the proportion in which we could help foreign countries as contrasted with our own has decreased, and there are problems that are comparable with the problems of statesmanship lying ahead of the farmers of the United States.

"In the future we have got to bring more of the area of the United States under cultivation than is under cultivation now. We have got to increase the product at every point where it is susceptible of being increased.

"One of the things that has most interested me about what has been done recently by legislation for the benefit of the farmer is the question why it was not done long before. It is astonishing that the assets, the valuable, available assets, the visible assets of the farm should not have been available as a basis of credit in the banks on the same terms as the assets of commercial undertakings and manufacturing industry. Cattle are just as visible and tangible as goods in warehouses and grounds on trains. . . .

Liberated Credits of Banks.

"We have liberated the credits of the banks and we have mobilized through the department of agriculture the scientific intelligence of the world. With that combination every nation in the world ought to come to us to learn how to raise big crops. We ought to raise such big crops that circumstances like the present can never recur, when men can make as if the supply was short that the middleman could charge for it what he pleased. It will not do to be niggardly with the world in respect to its food supply.

"I wish that all problems of government were displayed in as clear lines of duty as this problem of government with regard to how the farmer ought to be treated is displayed. I wish, for example, that foreign affairs were as simple as agriculture. The great satisfaction about what you have to discuss is that when once your duty is determined we have got a great force of intelligence to go forward in the line of duty.

"The thing that makes a free country vital is the large number of people who get together to do important things without asking the leave of the government to do them. The striking thing about a great country like the United States is that if the government neglected everything, the people would do it; that you do not beckon to the people of the United States; they command you to go on, and things that are neglected they have got plenty of brains to get together and do for themselves."

NEED DEPARTMENT NATIONAL HEALTH

Business Men's Culb of Memphis, together with a delegation of twenty-five doctors and "boosters," made claims for the next convention and backed up their claims with sufficient data to warrant the award of the meeting to Memphis.

Early Tuesday morning Dr. Stewart R. Roberts, chairman of the general convention committee, called the meeting to order. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. Sproule Lyons, of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. W. A. Selman, president of the Fulton County Medical society, made a welcoming address to the physicians and surgeons gathered, on behalf of the profession in Atlanta and Fulton county. Mayor-elect Asa G. Candler spoke in behalf of the city, and Governor Harris addressed the convention on the part of the state.

Routine Reports.

Dr. Stuart McGuire, of Richmond, Va., dean of the medical college department of the University of Virginia, responded to the addresses of welcome. Reports by the committee on arrangements, the report of the board of councillors, the report of Dr. Seale Harris, of Birmingham, secretary and treasurer of the association, and the address of the president, Dr. Robert Wilson, Jr., of Charleston, followed.

Early Tuesday morning Dr. J. C. Bloodgood, professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, conducted a clinic at the medical college.

Dr. John W. Long, of Greensboro, N. C., held a clinic in gynecology at Grady hospital.

Dr. John R. Worley, of Dallas, Texas, an authority on anesthesia, took charge of that part of the clinic with Dr. Long, giving short talks on the topic. He will continue to conduct the clinics on anesthesia during the clinics to be held. At the Atlanta Medical college Dr. Frank A. Jones, of Memphis, farfamed as a diagnostician, conducted a clinic on medicine; Dr. B. L. Wyman, of Birmingham, a clinic on neurology; Dr. Clarence M. Grigsby, of Dallas, a clinic on medicine; Dr. J. B. Guthrie, of New Orleans, a clinic on medicine, and Dr. J. D. Love, of Jacksonville, a clinic on pediatrics.

Tuesday afternoon two meetings of unusual importance were held. One was the meeting of the doctors in the main auditorium, wherein the first part of the afternoon was taken up in discussion of the care and feeding of babies; addresses on diphtheria and malaria; the other was the meeting conducted by the public health section, on the stage of the auditorium behind the big curtain.

Dr. K. H. Beall, of Fort Worth, Texas, presided over the meeting in the main section of the auditorium and Dr. U. S. Leathers presided over the health meeting on the stage.

One of the principal addresses of the day was made by Dr. George K. Varden, one of Atlanta's leading authorities on questions concerning the care and feeding of babies.

Dr. Oscar Dowling, ex-president of the association and present president of the state board of health of Louisiana, was one of the principal speakers before the public health section. Dr. Dowling gave much interesting statistical information concerning the activities of the Louisiana organization in its fight for sanitation, pure water supply and adequate sewerage.

Last Night's Addresses.

Tuesday night the Auditorium accommodated a comfortable crowd who listened to masterly addresses by five of the most noted medical experts of the association. Dr. Rosalie S. Morton, of New York, gave an address on "Experiences in Serbian Service." It was exceedingly interesting and held his audience throughout. "Surgical Observations Made in the Turko-Balkan War and Present European War" was the subject of the address of Dr. A. L. Gilcrest, of Gainesville, Texas. The address was accompanied by a series of stereopticon slides which showed actual scenes of the hospital conditions and war conditions of the warring nations.

Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general, United States public health service, and president of the American Medical association, Washington, D. C., made an address which was enthusiastically received. Dr. Robert E. Noble, major, U. S. A., Washington, spoke on "Medical Preparedness in the Army." He described in detail the manner in which Uncle Sam is protecting and caring for his soldiers.

Dr. Graves' Address.

The oration of Dr. M. L. Graves, of Galveston, Texas, who took for his subject "Medicine," was an unusual item of the evening's program. Dr. Graves lauded the ideal doctor whose principal characteristics were faithfulness, unselfishness and ability, he said. Strikingly he contrasted the great discoverers of medical subjects, the great inventors of medical appliances and formulas with the modern discoverers and inventors who immediately "form a corporation, patent their discoveries and proceed to become rich; sell to the the world the results of their inventions and the formulas, but never the secrets."

Dr. Graves cited a number of the old medical masters' discoveries, showing in each instance how the doctor had released to the world his discovery, informed brother physicians of its use and powers and contributed willingly without an attempt to commercialize, the work of years. He attributed it to the scientific spirit, the love of man and the desire of every true doctor to do what he is able to relieve the suffering of the world. Dr. Graves, oration was to have been made in the afternoon session, but was postponed until night in order that more could hear him. The same cause led to the postponement of the address of Dr. W. T. Haggard, of Nashville, Tenn., who delivered a lecture on "Surgery of the Stomach." Dr. Haggard, during his lecture, illustrated his points with motion pictures of the exact operation during its progress.

Events for Today.

Wednesday's program will contain some of the most interesting topics of the entire convention. An unusually large number of clinics, presided over by physicians and surgeons of recognized merit, will be held and addresses of a scientific nature will continue.

An interesting feature will be the lecture on "Intravesical Moving Pictures," by Dr. E. G. Ballenger. The lecture will be illustrated with moving pictures.

Of especial interest to the medical men will be the Georgia barbecue to be held at the Druid Hills Golf club. Here the men will be given a sample of southern hospitality a la barbecue pit. There will be plenty to eat and plenty of fun and following it will come a visit by auto to Stone Mountain. The barbecue will be held at 1 o'clock and the auto trip to the mountain at 3 o'clock. Cars have been provided for the occasion.

TRADE BLACKLIST STOUTLY DEFENDED

tion is found necessary in the public interest. The right to do so is so obvious that I feel sure that the protest which your excellency has handed to me has been founded on a misconception of the scope and intent of the measures which have been taken."

The note says the British government readily admits the United States contention that neutrals have the right to trade with belligerents, but that the United States must also admit the right of one belligerent to stop this trade by lawful means, as seizures of contraband or a blockade. But this particular legislation, it goes on to say, is not of this character. "It is," says the note, "an exercise of the sovereign right of an independent state over its own citizens and nothing more."

It is pointed out that even firms in allied nations are being placed on the list where there is a reason to believe that British subjects should not trade with them and the assertion is made that the measure is not one against American trade in particular, but a part of "general belligerent operations designed to weaken the enemy's resources."

Answering the American contention that there is serious danger to neutral commerce generally in the British ability to extend the list where it seems expedient, the note says that this is true, but that the American government may rest assured that "this system of prohibitions will be carried further than is absolutely necessary"

"It has been forced upon us," continues the note, "by the circumstances of the present war. To extend it beyond what is required in order to secure its immediate purpose—the weakening of the resources of our opponents—or to allow it to interfere with what is really the genuine neutral trade of a country with which we desire to have the closest commercial intercourse, would be contrary to British interests. The advantage derived from a commercial transaction between a British subject and a foreigner is mutual."

Not Fostering British Trade.

Viscount Grey says apparently there are persons in the United States almost impossible to convince that Great Britain is taking measures against its enemies and not merely to foster its own trade at the expense of neutrals. He denies his government "have such unworthy object in view," asserting that in all cases his government has done everything possible to cause as little dislocation of neutral commerce as possible.

The note apparently admits that Britain has altered the position previously held with the United States that domicile and not nationality is the test of enemy character, and argues that in this war nationals of belligerents domiciled far from home may render great aid and comfort, admitting that these are sought to be reached by the blacklist measure.

Referring to exclusion from ships using British coal in carrying goods belonging to blacklisted firms, the note argues that there can be no legal objection to such a refusal which is merely denying the use of British coal to carriage of goods of persons actively assisting Great Britain's enemies. It points to the destruction of tonnage by German submarines and says that if no other factor entered into the question the British coal supply should be conserved to be certain that there is enough for ships supplying the Belgian Relief commission.

Discussing the argument that there is apprehension that potential control of transportation by one nation might be used to disrupt the trade of the world in its own selfish interests, the note asserts:

"His majesty's government therefore take this opportunity to declare that they are not unmindful of the obligations of those who possess sea power nor of that traditional policy pursued by the British empire by which such power has been regarded as a trust and has been exercised in the interests of freedom.

American Precedent Cited.

"They require no representations to recall such considerations to mind, but they cannot admit that, in the circumstances of the time, their present use of their coal resources, a use which only differs in extent from that exercised by the United States in the civil war in the case of vessels proceeding to such ports as Nassau, is obnoxious to their duties or their voluntary professions."

Attention is called to instructions to British merchants issued by Lord Russell in 1862 regarding trade with the Bahamas advising that the "true remedy" was to refrain from this trade.

"His majesty's government do not ask the government of the United States to take any such action as this," the note concludes, "but they cannot believe that the United States government will question their right to lay upon British merchants, in the interests of the safety of the British empire, for which they are responsible, the same prohibitions as Lord Russell issued fifty years ago out of consideration for the interests and feelings of a foreign nation. Suspicions and insinuations which would construe so simple an action as an opening for secret and unavowed designs on neutral rights should have no place in the relations between two friendly countries

"I trust that the explanations contained in this note will destroy such suspicions and correct the views which prevail in the United States on the subject."

THREE DIVING TESTS FOR THE DEUTSCHLAND

New London, Conn., November 14.—Three submergence tests for the German undersea freighter Deutschland were held at her pier today, and, according to her officers, they were entirely successful. Her longest stay under water was half an hour.

While everything apparently has been in readiness for some days, the time of her departure was not known tonight.

BRITISH STEAMERS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

London, November 14.—The British steamer Corinth has been sunk and her crew has been landed, says Lloyds shipping agency. This agency also states that the British steamer Bernicia is believed to have been sunk.

The steamer Corinth hailed from Liverpool, was of 3,669 tons and was owned by R. Nicholson & Sons. The Bernicia hailed from Newcastle was of 3,355 tons and belonged to J. Bowser & Sons.

IF BACK HURTS TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Says Backache is sure sign you have been eating too much meat.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lot of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Delightful Social Program For Doctors and Their Wives

A reception and dance last night in honor of the visiting physicians and surgeons and their wives in attendance on the Southern Medical association and a luncheon in honor of the visiting ladies were the official entertainments given by the local organization yesterday, and both occasions were marked by a handsome hospitality.

A company of one thousand, including the visitors and the members of the Fulton County Medical society and their wives, who acted as an entertainment committee, were assembled at the ball at the Capital City club. The regular Tuesday night dinner-dance was also in progress, and the members of the club in attendance on this event assisted in the reception and entertainment of the guests.

Both the ladies' cafe and the ballroom with the salon adjoining were given over to dancing, and orchestras on both floors provided appropriate music. Palms and ferns were used in decoration, and at 11 o'clock a buffet supper was served.

Luncheon at Stonehenge.

Yesterday at 1 o'clock the visiting ladies were guests at an elegant luncheon at "Stonehenge" in Druid Hills, the home of the chairman of the ladies' reception committee, Mrs. James N. Ellis. The wives of the members of the Fulton County Medical society acted as joint hostesses with Mrs. Ellis.

Decorations in the rich toned foliage and flowers of autumn harmonized well with the dark deep colors and the gold which are prevalent in the interior finish of the granite mansion.

The guests were received in the living room, an apartment of stately proportion, on the walls of which are painted views around Stone Mountain and a glimpse in the misty distance of the mountain itself, the landscapes painted from the front porch of Mount Rest, the family home at Stone Mountain. Jars of autumn leaves continued the out-of-door atmosphere, and branches of the brilliant foliage were used with effect throughout the house.

In the reception hall, where gold shaded lights make more mellow the woodland frescoes, autumn leaves and chrysanthemums in their deeper colors filled great vases and mauve pink chrysanthemums were the artistic selection for the drawing room, its finish done according to a Japanese scheme.

In the dining room, mulberry color is the dominant tone in decoration and furnishing, this color paling to the pink of hollyhocks in the mural landscapes and there the mauve pink chrysanthemums again found congenial setting, the table centerpiece a huge basket of magnificent blooms.

Mrs. W. E. Foster and Mrs. A. O. Venable served coffee at handsomely appointed tables at the ends of the room, and at the punch tables in the hall and living room Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, Mrs. S. S. Wallace, Mrs. Robert Ridley and Mrs. Willis Westmoreland presided.

Mrs. Ellis' luncheon gown was an elegant one of black net embroidered in iridescent beads, the net combined with Chantilly lace. Her sister, Mrs. Frank Mason, wore a becoming French gown of crystal cloth brocaded in pink roses, the crystal cloth over white satin and chiffon accordeon plaited.

Mrs. A. O. Venable was gowned in pink satin and crystal net.

Today's Social Program.

The members of the Fulton County Medical society and their wives will be the hosts today at a barbecue at Druid Hills Golf club, at which time there will also be golf and dancing. An auto trip to Stone Mountain will start from the club at 3 o'clock.

Snow Dance at East Lake Country Club.

The snow dance at the East Lake Country club this evening will be a beautiful affair. About 400 guests will be present. There will be appropriate decorations. Guarding each entrance will be a snow man and snowballs of cotton will be given as favors. Miss Ruby Terrell will give her interpretation of the snow dance ballet, and there will be the Pierrot and Pierrette dances by the members of the Inman Park Girls' club and their escorts.

Mr. Ray Hastings will entertain in compliment to Miss Grace Bloodworth's guest, Miss Miriam Jons, of Albany.

A small party will be given in honor of Miss Mary Stewart and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Nunnally's guests, Misses Mary Stewart, Louise Walker and Rachel Nunnally, of Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Dobbs will have at their table the Inman Park Girls' club, who dance, and their escorts. The girls will be Misses Lucile Goodrich, Eunice Goodrich, Margaret Maddox, Camile Work, Catherine Hale, Lula Grove Campbell, Corinne Johnson, Annie Kate Adams, Julia Adams and Helen Whitehurst.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Glenn, Jr., will entertain in honor of Miss Dora Drew. Completing the party will be Mr. W. A. White, of New York; Mrs. A. M. Brailleford, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Watkins, of Mullens, S. C.; Mr and Mrs. J. M. Daniels and Mr. F. R. Corker, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Andrews will have a party as a compliment to Miss Laurence Horine and her guest, Miss Eugenia Adams. There will be a few married couples as their guests and they will be joined after the dinner by the stag party given in honor Mr. Sherrard Kennedy.

The Yuarab Folly association is entertaining for Mr. Kennedy, who was recently elected cashier of the Atlanta National bank and who is secretary-treasurer of the association. Their guests will include George M. Napier, Walter Andrews, Dr. Ed C. Brown, Lewis C. Gregg, Charles A. Smith, St. Elmo Massengale, Dr. Walpole Brewer, John W. Murrell, David E. Shumaker, Bayne Gibson, Byron Souders, Dr. F. E. Van der Veer, Frederick W. Patterson, George B. Beck, Paul P. Reese, Buard Bullard, Isaac W. Carter, Asa Candler, Jr., Dr. Boise Bomar, E. V. Starr, Mr. Frank Kempton, Mr. G. H. Rosenbusch.

Mrs. McCrea's Luncheon.

Among the bright entertainments of yesterday was the luncheon given by Mrs. T. H. McCrea at Druid Hills Golf club in compliment to Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Rachel Nunnally and Miss Louise Walker, of Monroe, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Nunnally.

Luncheon was served in the palm room and the table had as its centerpiece a basket of handsome yellow chrysanthemums and autumn foliage. The place cards were hand-painted in chrysanthemums, and all color details of the pretty table were yellow.

The guests included Miss Stewart, Miss Nunnally, Miss Walker, Miss Mae Crichton, Miss Janet Hatcher, Miss Grace Bloodworth and her guest, Miss Miriam Jones, of Albany; Miss Caroline Blount, and her guest, Miss Blanche Divine, of Carters; Miss Isabelle Kuhrt and Miss Lucile Kuhrt.

Parties for Visitor.

Mrs. J. B. Jackson entertained at a pretty bridge tea yesterday afternoon at her home on Piedmont avenue in compliment to Mrs. Joseph R. Newton, of Chicago, the guest of Mrs. H. C. Bailey.

A profusion of yellow and white chrysanthemums artistically decorated the house.

The prizes were pieces of hand-painted china.

There were twenty-eight guests for the game who were joined by a number of others for tea.

Mrs. Alex Cruickshank entertains at bridge this afternoon at the Burns' club for Mrs. Newton. Mrs. W. S. Calhoun gives a bridge luncheon Thursday, and Thursday evening Mrs. M. D. Reybold entertains at bridge. Mrs. Joseph Woodall entertains Friday morning. The same afternoon Mrs. Frank Berry and Mrs. Richard Beers will give a bridge party. Saturday morning Mrs. Bailey entertains and Saturday afternoon Mrs. Guy Woolford entertains at the tea-dance at Druid Hills Golf club.

For Visitor.

Miss Louise Mell entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue in compliment to Miss Olive Mathews, of Rochester, N. Y., the guest of Miss Marguerite Gause. Chrysanthemums and autumn foliage were the decorations and the prizes were dainty pieces of lingerie.

The guests included Miss Gause, Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Edith Hudson, Miss Martha Edmondson, Mrs. John Baldwin and Mrs. John Allen Gentry.

Tea-Dance at Driving Club.

A bright event of the afternoon will be the tea-dance at the Piedmont Driving club.

Miss Rebecca Hill will entertain a large party. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Payne will have as guest of honor in a party Mrs. Thomas Kemp Slaughter and Mrs. William J. Bryan, of Baltimore, who are the guests of Mrs. Kemp Slaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Marye entertain for Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Vanger Hoof, of Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Robert C. Moseley, of Columbia, S. C., will be guest of honor in Mrs. Cliff C. Hatcher's party.

Others entertaining will be Mr. and Mrs. Gus T. Dodd, Mrs. Henry P. Nelson, Mrs. George Dexter, Mrs. J. W. Summerville, Mrs. Evelyn Harris.

To Distinguished Visitors.

A beautiful entertainment yesterday was the luncheon given by Dr. and Mrs. Dunbar Roy at their home in compliment to a group of distinguished visitors in attendance on the medical convention—Dr. Richmond McKinney of Memphis, Dr. Clifton Miller of Richmond, Va.; Dr. Joseph B. Green of Asheville, N. C.; Dr. Pierre Mallett of Hendersonville, N. C.—who are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Roy in their home.

The reception rooms were made festive with the lavish use of autumn foliage in artistic arrangement and chrysanthemums of many colors.

In the dining room the table had as its centerpiece a silver epergne of little button chrysanthemums in their varied autumn tints. At intervals on the filet lace table cover were silver baskets of cakes and compotes of delicious crystallized fruits and bonbons, and no artificial lights were used, the windows being open to admit the bright sunshine.

Punch was served in the beautiful new sunparlor, picturesque with its unusual decorations and its furniture in black made gay with designs of bright-hued flowers.

Eligthy guests enjoyed the hospitality of the occasion, these including some of the visiting physicians and their wives, with a group of Atlanta friends, who assisted in entertaining.

Mrs. Roy wore a becoming costume in midnight blue satin combined with chiffon and silver.

Gymnasium Announcement.

The physical committee of the Young Women's Christian association wishes to reply through the press to the many inquiries made in reference to the gymnasium classes.

The indoor gymnasium season is divided into two terms, the first term beginning October 1 and ending the middle of January; the second term beginning the middle of January and closing May 5. Fees are paid in advance for one term. A reduction in the term fee will be made for those entering after the 15th of November in the morning and afternoon classes.

Woman's Life Culture Club

The members of the Woman's Life Culture club enjoyed an interesting program Tuesday afternoon at their regular monthly meeting in the club rooms of the Ansley.

Mrs. Harry Wilson presided, and after the report of the secretary, Mrs. C. G. Truner, two beautiful vocal selections were given by Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend, accompanied by Mr. Kurt Mueller.

Mrs. J. A. Watson read an article on "Ever-Growing Lives," from Ossoli. Misses Katherine Johnson, Mary Bloodsworth, Venita Viley and Katherine Bonney, under the direction of Miss Era Betzner, gave several delightful interpretive and pantomime numbers.

MOTHERS TRY THIS ON YOUR BABIES

Stop Torturing Your Darlings With Irritating Medicines for Colds, Croup, Etc.

Leave it to the kiddies and they will choose Eucapine Salve, the new and delightful pharmaceutical preparation that soothes instead of irritates, and heals instead of inflames. After the first trial, it is fun to watch the babies doctor themselves, rubbing Eucapine up their nostrils for a bad cold, or putting it on the back of their tongues for a sore throat or tonsilitis; or rubbing it on their chests and throats for a deep-seated cough. Their faces instantly reflect the delightful relief.

Your physician will tell you that Eucapine Salve is by far the best and safest home remedy, for he knows that it combines the soothing, healing and antiseptic qualities of Eucalyptus, Wintergreen, Menthol, Camphor and Pinus Sylvestris, with refined Petrolatum. Trial size, 10c; family jar, 25c; at drug stores everywhere.—(adv.)

SUFFERED WITH HEAD, BACK, LEGS

Morphine Gave Only Temporary Relief, But Cardui Brought Back Good Health.

Stephanville, Tex.—Mrs. Jay McGee, of this town, gives out the following statement: "For a year, I suffered untold agonies with my . . . each month. I almost had spasms. I was in bed off and on for a week at the time. I suffered with my head, back and legs. I suffered terribly with pain in my head, my back; hips and legs ached all the time. I had to keep morphine tablets in the house to ease my suffering. Nothing else would do me any good.

Nothing, nothing I ever took did me any good until I took . . . Cardui. It has been the means of my good health today. Cardui cured me . . . for I never saw a well day until I had taken Cardui. I suffered this way for 9 years, . . . each month. It grew worse all the time until I found that great remedy, Cardui.

Before taking Cardui, I had six different doctors with me. None of them did me any good. They said . . . nothing else would do but an operation, but they did not reach my case. I took 6 bottles of Cardui and it cured me. . . . Cardui did for me what mother, father, friends, or doctors could not do. I can never praise Cardui enough, for I owe my life to it. . . .

I am now able to do my work, and look after my babies. I beg you women and girls who are afflicted with woman's troubles, to give Cardui a fair trial.".

Follow Mrs. McGee's advice. It's worth a trial.

Cefalu-Warren.

The marriage of Miss Petrina Catherine Cefalu and Mr. Benjamin Franklin Warren, of Birmingham, was an event of Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cefalu. Rev. Father Kennedy, of the Immaculate Conception church, officiated.

The ceremony was performed in the living room before an improvised altar of palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums. Before the ceremony Miss Rose Cefalu sang "O Love of Mine" and "I Love You Truly, and Lohengrin's wedding march was rendered by Miss Marietta Cefalu, both cousins of the bride.

The only attendants were Mrs. J. G. Leonte, sister of the bride, matron of honor, and Mr. J. G. Leonte best man.

The bride, who entered with her father, was lovely in her gown of white duchess satin, exquisitely embroidered in seed pearls. Her veil of tulle was arranged in a cap effect and was caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride roses and valley lilies.

The matron of honor wore her wedding gown of white satin.

Assisting in receiving were Mrs. P. R. Cefalu, sister of the groom, who wore a pale blue silk gown with gold lace trimmings, and Miss Mamie Cefalu, gowned in white satin, draped with Georgette crepe.

After the ceremony a reception was held. A color motif of white and yellow was carried out. Decorations of chrysanthemums, palms and ferns were used throughout the house.

The bride's going-away suit was of dark blue velour and her hat was black velvet trimmed with paradise.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Warren left for a trip to Florida. On their return they will be at home to their friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cefalu.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Payne will entertain at the dinner-dance Saturday evening, November 25, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith, Jr., whose fifth wedding anniversary will be celebrated.

To Bride-Elect.

A pretty event of Saturday evening was the miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. E. F. Floyd at her home on St. Charles avenue in honor of Miss Nora Anderson, a popular bride-elect.

Music by Miss Lirena Pierce was enjoyed and games were played. The prize was won by Miss Janie Aldred. A delightful salad course was served.

Those invited were Misses Freda Rapp, Hulda Anderson, Edna Christensen, Inez Boinest, Rene Slear, Christine Jenzen, Elizabeth Richardson, Thelma Etheridge, Alice Denton, Clara Bilem, Mildred Giddish, Nora Anderson, Clifford George, Janie Aldred, Lorena Pierce, Elizabeth Wyatt, Birdie Dickey, Claudia Allen, Elizabeth Raine, Mrs. Jack Adkins, Mrs. J. F. Aldred, Mrs. C. J. Aldred, Mrs. C. I. Wood, Mrs. S. L. Gardner, Mrs C. B. Leiding, Mrs. F. A. Straub, Mrs. Howard Morris, Mrs. B. Carlsen, Mrs. G. Baugh.

Bridge at Bainbridge.

Bainbridge, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—The board of county commissioners of Decatur county has decided to replace the present bridge across the Flint river on the western entrance to the city with a more modern and commodious structure. The present bridge is not worn out, but is simply too small to accommodate the volume of travel which it has, being the only entrance to Bainbridge from the west, as well as from Miller and Early counties.

Britt Craig Finds Chorus Girls Displaying Styles at Allen's; Best Show of Season in Atlanta

By Britt Craig.

Mabel, the magnificent manicurist, called me up and said:

"The chrous girls of 'Very Good Eddie' are displaying new styles down at J. P. Allen's, so come along and go with me."

There was no retreating, so I had to stand the pressure.

I introduced Mabel to Mr. J. P. Allen, whom I consider the Flo Ziegfield of the cloak room, and to Homer George, the well-known impressario. Mr. Allen furnished the silks and satins and other fineries and Mr. George furnished the girls for the afternoon's entertainment, and it was hard to decide which was the most stunning. It was also hard to decide which was the most expensive.

Performance Starts.

Then the performance started. Dave Ferguson, who is funny, and plays in "Very Good Eddie," like the first two words of the show, got out and made a speech about the unequaled beauty of the Atlanta women, something we knew long before he ever got in on a party ticket to this town.

Pete Harrower, who works for the Edison Phonograph concern and was sent to this performance because he is a choir singer, I guess, and morally qualified, started up the phonograph and Hawaiian music percolated through the surroundings. Ethel Russel came out on the stage in a Lanvin evening cloak, and she was followed by the other girls in Callot, Bernard and Paquin opera cloaks.

The girls paraded around in them, having as good a time as though the cloaks were their own. Never mind, Ethel, if that broker in Boston cares as much as you say he does, you ought to get a whole wardrobe! I got impressionable during the performance, and made a note in my celebrated book of impressions that chorus girls made ideal models for fineries, as they accord so harmoniously with the expenditures motif.

Miss Martin Gets In.

Miss Martin (I call her Miss because she is a principal in the show and entitled to it, since she isn't as up-stagey as most principals) had come up with the other girls, but not for the purpose of acting as model. When she saw Ethel and Hazel and Mrs. McManus radiating in such lavish attire, the woman in her went up to fever heat and she could resist it no longer.

She said to one of the maids: "Give me something to wear," and the maid put a hat and cloak on her and she pranced out on the stage. The chorus girls saw her, and did their best to lord it over the principal of their show. Which made Miss Martin all the more womanish, and she acted the rest of the afternoon. She is a little woman who used to be in moving pictures, and has bewitching black eyes. For any other recommendations I refer you to Eddie, who gave the party in the "Rainbow room."

She wore first a black velvet toque, then a silver lace sailor and a satin antique. And the millinery profession went up 80 per cent in my estimation. I said to Mabel, so I could get away from her: "Pete Harrower is getting tired of running the graphophone; may I go over and help him?" She was absorbed in the models being displayed, which I knew to mean no good harbingers to Mr. Michael O'Callaghan, her husband, and said I could do anything I wished, except some thing.

Britt Drops a Record.

I was playing Hawaiian stuff, but just then Hazel (whose married name is Flint, which is a good name, I think, for a chorus girl) came out on the stage in a pantalette negligee, and I dropped a record. Mr. Harrowor drove me away from the graphophone.

Tina Bidekoff also came out in some negligee, and out is good. It was a trouserette sort of affair, and called a Billie Burke model, and it shows just how much this B. Burke has come to be an institution in women's wardrobes. Now that she has had a baby, she has set another good pace, I think, but Mabel turns up her nose it it, account high prices.

Hazel came off the stage in her pantalette negligee and said, as she turned around in rhythm with the music: "How do you like me?"

And I said: "Hazel, you are as irresistible as an itching spot."

Mr. Allen said that at 4:45 the girls would display corsets, lingerie and teddies and things, and Mabel, with an I'd-like-to-stay-but—tone, said:

"I have an engagement at 4:30 and you will have to escort me downstairs."

So that's why I got back in time to write this story for the first edition. I believe I would have done much better, though, if we hadn't left at 4:30.

Because you can say all you please, but there's no denying that there's such a thing as inspiration.

Will Try to Secure National Dairy Show For Atlanta in 1918

At a meeting of representatives from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the Southeastern Fair association, the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, the Southern Ruralist and Southern Farming, as well as three county commissioners at the chamber of commerce Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock it was decided that these institutions would go after the National Dairy show for Atlanta in 1918, and a good delegation will go before the board of directors of the National Dairy show, which meets in Chicago Tuesday, November 21, for the purpose of boosting Atlanta as the place for the next show.

The National Dairy show always has four different herds represented and the best of cattle, usually between 1,000 and 1,200 head. Improved dairying appliances are displayed. The first time the show has been out of Chicago was this year, when it was in Springfield, Mass., October 21-26.

BIG PHOTO-PLAY DEAL CLOSED IN ATLANTA

One of the largest motion picture contracts ever closed in Atlanta, or, for that matter, in the south, was entered into Tuesday between Sig Samuels and Willard Patterson, of the Criterion theater, on the one side, and William Oldknow, president of "Attractions De-Luxe," on the other side. By this contract the Criterion secures for one year the Clara Kimball Young productions of the L. J. Selsneck Film company, which will be eight in number and the option on all state right pictures for this city made by the Lemle Universal company and the Selsneck company, such as "War Brides," "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" and others that are enjoying big runs in New York city.

The first of the Clara Kimball Young pictures, "The Common Law," has already been released and is playing to crowded houses in many important cities. It will be shown here in the very near future. Miss Young's second picture will be "The Foolish Virgin" from the novel by Thomas Dickson. Following this will come "The Easiest Way."

The management of the Criterion theater states that between these big pictures a program of the best five-reelers will be presented, selected from the output of all the companies. The prices will, of course, vary in accordance with the magnitude of the pictures shown.

SCULPTOR BORGLUM AT DOCTORS' FETES

Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor of the confederate monument at Stone Mountain, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. Samuel H. Venable, at Stonehenge, Druid Hills.

Mr. Borglum was among the honor guests entertained by Dr. and Mrs. James N. Ellis at luncheon Tuesday. He will accompany the doctors in their ride to Stone Mountain today. He was at the reception at the Capital City club last night. Mr. Borglum will be in the city for several days.

Banquet for Judge Cox.

CAMPAIGN PLANNED FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ALTAMAHA RIVER

Macon, Ga., November 14.—(Special.) Judge C. L. Bartlett, former congressman from the sixth district, has been named chairman of a committee which will perfect arrangements for an organization to be known as the Altamaha River System Improvement association. The committee will handle all the preliminary details and will call a meeting the early part of December in one of the river towns below Macon, at which time officers will be elected and definite plans mapped out to secure larger appropriations from the United States government to be used in improving the Altamaha river system.

The Macon-Atlantic Navigation company, which is now operating a regular boat schedule from Macon to Savannah, via the Altamaha system, which is composed of the Ocmulgee, Oconee and Altamaha rivers, has demonstrated that river navigation is practical as Macon has benefited, other river towns below Macon have expressed a desire to co-operate, so that they may also enjoy the benefits. Dublin has already named a committee to secure members in that city for the new association, while Hawkinsville and Abbeville have both signified their intention of joining Macon in the undertaking. It is figured that the improvement of the river system will benefit 1,500,000 Georgia people.

Coats That Reveal Your Personal Style

How a woman's eyes sparkle when she finds a garment designed to give her individuality. Perhaps nothing has contributed so much to our pleasure this season as to be able to do this so often. Like Sentimental Tommy, the Wooltex designers certainly "have a way with them."

Notice how stunningly it is done with the coat on the left. Could anything be more fetching? Like the fashionable men's coats, it fastens with one button-through button. And what a long sweeping roll there is to the collar. Youth in every line of it and a coat any woman can wear with distinction.

And how could anything be more novel than the Wooltex sport coat on the right—but note how strictly the silhouette outlines the fashion. Those bands of velvet on the collar, pocket, and belt have a charming way of getting into the picture.

Smart and well tailored, these coats carry cheer with them wherever they go.

Many of the best-dressed women are now making their selections of new coats. A good time for YOU to see them.

A Weekly Waist Service

The famous Style Sisters' Waists come fresh to our Blouse Section every week—one reason why it is such a popular place.

You know how delightful it is to look over the new style offerings at the beginning of the season. As the season advances, your interest wanes as the merchandise loses its novelty and freshness.

Now style, especially in Blouses, is not an abrupt seasonal change. Style is a beautiful plant of gradual growth, which daily blooms with new ideas.

That is the plan of this Waist Service: To bring you every week, fresh features of the ever-changing style,

You may not want to purchase a waist every week, but when you do, you want to feel that it is fully up-to-the-minute.

THE ARMISTEAD FUND.

When a man forfeits his life while attempting to safeguard and protect the lives and property of his fellows the least that they whom he was serving could do in a compensatory way is provide in a measure for his dependents.

A case in point centers in the assassination a few nights ago of Patrolman W. E. Armistead, and the pathetic status in which the dead officer's wife and little boy were left.

Armistead was a clean, capable and fearless policeman, and to his wife and little child he was all that a devoted husband and father should be. His sudden taking off in itself proved a blow such as would test the mettle of any young wife; but from accounts an added touch of seriousness attains to the situation by reason of the fact that, left with only scant means upon which to sustain herself and her little fatherless son, her chance of doing so is lessened by her condition—for soon the burden is to be increased by one.

A policeman's life is necessarily one of continuous danger; he carries it on his sleeve. Insurance companies take the perils of the officer's calling into consideration, rate him as a "risk," of "extra hazard," and make it correspondingly more difficult for him to provide for his dependents with insurance in case of his death.

The public expects much from the policeman, and it receives much from him, for which it does not pay. Yet the good officer, true to his sworn duty, goes about his business day after day and night after night, a pillar of protection against destruction of lives and property by the elements and the lawbreakers. In case of fire or accident or assault the policeman is the first called, and he is always found ready to serve, regardless of the place or the hour or the personal risk.

So, when one is killed, as was Armistead, fighting on the side of the right and duty and the welfare of the sleeping inhabitants of his city, what better tribute can be paid his memory by an appreciative public than in pouring into the lap of the heart-broken and helpless widow a tangible testimonial of the esteem in which Atlanta's police officers are held and the appreciation of a grateful public, such as will place her and her dependents beyond the pale of imminent physical need.

Surely, the public of Atlanta can and will contribute liberally to the purse being collected for Mrs. Armistead, not as a "relief fund," but as a tribute fund—an offering of thanks for the valiant service of a brave man.

ATLANTA MUST DO BOTH.

Ernest L. Rhodes, prominent Atlanta business man, writes from Colorado Springs, where he is sojourning temporarily, to protest against the tentative plan of the city government to next year appropriate $100,000 toward the Southeastern fair improvements, until the needs of our school system shall have first been met. His communication is printed elsewhere upon this page.

Mr. Rhodes favors a bond issue if that should be necessary to supply the fair with the funds needed and at the same time afford the public school fund the revenue required to relieve a flagrant and pressing deficiency. He argues that the Girls' High school, for instance, is in unsafe condition, as regards fire hazard, and that the health of the pupils is hazarded by lack of heating facilities; he cites others of our school buildings in similar need of improvement. He opposes the appropriation of funds for the fair only if that would interfere with the school requirements being met.

But Atlanta can and should do both. It can go ahead making annual appropriations to the Southeastern fair and thus aid materially in the upbuilding of that great institution, and at the same time do its full duty by the schools.

Of course, our school system, of all institutions, must not be neglected. But for this city, with its wealth, its splendid citizenry, its great prosperity and its thriving industries, to withhold reasonable appropriations for such an important institution as the Southeastern fair simply because money is needed—as we all know it is needed, woefully—for the improvement and perfection of our public school system, would be a confession of weakness and impotence unworthy the metropolis of the southeast!

Atlanta must do both. It should put our school system upon a plane where it will be the boast of the city, and at the same time assist the fair.

If it cannot do both, then it will be because there is something radically wrong with our municipal machinery.

ATLANTA'S DOCTOR GUESTS.

Among the many conventions that it has been Atlanta's pleasure to entertain there are few which have brought the city men more distinguished in their professional connection than those who are now attending the meeting of the Southern Medical association.

In addition to the attendance of many of the south's most prominent physicians, others of national reputation are brought here by the great importance of the meeting, and are participating in its proceedings.

That Atlanta extends cordial welcome to this distinguished body goes without saying.

The physicians and the surgeons of the city have for some time been directing their energies to the end that when their visiting guests got here they would be made to feel the warmth of Atlanta's welcome, and the people of Atlanta have assisted them in extending just such a welcome as is characteristic of the city.

In no city in the south has there been a a development of keener interest to the physicians and surgeons of this part of the country than in Atlanta. On account of the striking health record of the city, its elevation of more than 1,000 feet above the level of the sea, and its accessibility to the entire southeast, sanitariums of every description have been built here appealing to every phase of medical practice. These are under the direction of men eminent in their profession, and they have made Atlanta a sort of health clearing house for all this part of the country. In addition to this, the development of the medical department of Emory university, which absorbed the up-to-date Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons with a largely increased endowment back of it and a plant unsurpassed in the south, has made this city the center of medical education for all that part of the country south of the Ohio river.

So, it is particularly fitting that the physicians of the south should assemble here to see for themselves what Atlanta is doing in matters of such keen personal and professional interest to them.

"MISGUIDED CITIZENS."

"However popular the democratic candidate may be," admonished The San Francisco Chronicle the day before election, "he must be regarded as a misguided citizen and beaten at the polls."

In an editorial resume of the "Week in Business" on the Monday morning before election day, The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, standpat republican spokesman for the state of Washington and a wide additional area of the great northwest, said:

> "The stock market (on Wall street) has shown increased buoyancy as election approaches and as confidence in the return of the republican party to power becomes more in evidence!"

Yet, discussing the status of business in Seattle, The Post-Intelligencer, in the same editorial—while preaching that a continuance of good times depended wholly upon the overthrow of the democracy—said:

"Locally, business conditions were never better!"

Is it any wonder, in the face of such sophistry, and in resentment of such affront to their intelligence, that the people of California and Washington hazarded classification by The Chronicle with the "misguided citizens" and carried both states for the democratic ticket!

Regardless and fearless of the outcome in the "doubtful states," cotton neither feared nor doubted, but blithely hopped back to high water mark.

The democratic chairman has put deputies over the ballots in doubtful states. All of which proves the efficacy of the doctrine of preparedness.

Well, anyhow, the defeated candidate escapes a whole pile of cabinet worries and pestering by plum-seekers.

It looks now as though "what Hughes will do" is not going to prove a matter of such deep public concern, after all.

There is something about "Hughes" and "lose" which makes the two words sound mightily alike.

Well, Mr. Hughes has had at least one close shave in his life, anyhow.

Ox Roast Changes Hands.

Here's a good one from The Philadelphia Record:

"Confident of victory, Macungie republicans purchased a large ox for a barbecue. The animal was slaughtered and preparations were made to roast it, when the tide toward President Wilson set in. Hastily placing the ox in cold storage, the republicans managed to sell it to the democrats, and the latter will now have the feast."

CITY CLERK TAYLOR GETTING READY FOR DECEMBER ELECTION

City Clerk Walter Taylor is preparing tally sheets for the general city election to be held December 6. One sheet is being printed for each city ward carrying the names of all the nominees for the various city offices.

A space is being left blank for the insertion of the names of any opponents to Asa G. Candler, nominee for mayor, and James M. Fuller, nominee for city marshal, in the last city primary. These are to be filled in by the managers and clerks making up the sheets in case opposition develops.

The ballots to be used in the election will carry a proposed charter amendment in the form of a raise in the present tax rate from $1.25 per hundred to $1.50. This proposed amendment was requested by council from the legislature some months ago and at the last regular session of the state body the city was given the authority to raise the rate if the voters choose to give the plan their approval.

This proposal is the important feature of the ballot and will probably be much discussed before the election is held. Opposition will probably develop to the movement.

Dr. Grayson Tells of Great Progress In Navy Medical Corps Under Wilson

In the course of an exceedingly interesting explanation of the workings of the medical branch of the navy, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, passed assistant surgeon, United States navy, assigned to the white house as physician to the president, speaking from the subject, "The Doctor's Work for Naval Preparedness," before the convention of the Southern Medical association in the Auditorium last night, paid a glowing tribute to the current administration of the navy and to the present congress for what it had done for that arm of the nation's defense.

"More has been done during the past year by congress for the medical corps," he said, "than has been done in the whole previous history of the navy."

"This," he went on to say, "has been accomplished by the intelligent and interested members of the naval committee of the senate and the house, supported by the earnest efforts of the president of the United States and the secretary of the navy, and by the clear presentation of the needs of the service by our surgeon general, William C. Braisted, all of whom have given in their respective spheres sympathetic support in the endeavor to make the medical department of the navy the best of its kind in the world, always working for a full realization of what it means to the folks back home to know that their fathers and brothers and sons far away in unknown and often perilous surroundings would be kindly and skillfully cared for."

The Nursing Corps.

Discussion of the medical corps, the medical reserve corps, etc., brought the speaker to an outline of the work and accomplishments to date of the nursing crops—composed of two groups: The hospital corps and what he characterized as "a splendid corps of women nurses, open to the best qualified of the land." And in this connection he said:

"The hospital corps has just been increased to 3,000 in number. There are 1,500 newly-created vacancies open to the youth of the country who possess the physical and moral qualifications and the elements of a common school education.

"One of the splendid results of Secretary Daniels' efforts in behalf of the enlisted men is the opening of two large training schools—one at the training station at Newport, and the other at the training station at San Francisco. For these men who receive education in nursing, chemistry, bacteriology, hospital administration and pharmacy, leading to the position of chief pharmacist, with the possibility of obtaining a commission with the rank of ensign, and ultimately the pay of a lieutenant in the navy, with the allowances and retirement privileges that go with that rank. Congress has wisely placed this corps upon a percentage basis, so that it increases automatically as the navy increases."

Hospitals on Ships.

Descriptive of the hospital feature of the navy, Dr. Grayson said in part:

"Every man-of-war has a small hospital on board, complete in every detail and equivalent to the small army post hospital, with which you are familiar.

"We have heard much of base hospitals operating upon land. Its analogue upon the sea is the hospital ship. I cannot say how many of these ships have been employed in the present war, but each country has contributed its quota.

"A fleet may be likened to a large city of over 50,000 adult male inhabitants, all engaged about machinery, tossed about by wind and weather, handling high explosives, subject to hazard of life and limb and the perils of exposure. What could such a population do ashore without a hospital? It is, therefore, as necessary that we should have our hospital ship as that Atlanta should have her hospital. I take pride in telling you that in the splendid naval program which became a law a little over two months ago, congress provided $2,350,000 for the first hospital ship to be constructed for its purpose. We have planned and studied for this ship for twenty years. The United States is the first to take the initiative of deliberately building such a ship.

"Her design will include features the result of long study and experience in our own fleet and also in the fleets in the great war now raging. She will possess every modern facility of a large general hospital. She will be an oil-burner, free from dust and dirt, equipped with gyroscopic stabilizers to make her steady. The operating room will be large and spacious, extending the height of two decks. The X-ray room, the laboratories, dental rooms, eye, ear, throat and nose rooms will contain the most modern appliances. It is not my purpose to tire you with the details of her construction and equipment. I wish only to add that, to mothers and fathers, to sisters and brothers, to all relatives and friends of the man who has cast his lot upon the sea in the service of his country, to those good people it must be a satisfaction to know that wounded or sick, the officer, bluejacket or marine will be tenderly and efficiently looked after.

"In time of war we would probably never have the immense number of wounded we hear of in connection with the great battles of Europe. A battle on the sea is not a fight between men; it is a fight between ships. When these ships come back from the sea with their sick and their wounded, they will look to the hospitals of the coast cities to help them. Even our large navy yard hospitals are not large enough to handle unaided the numbers that would result from a battle of grand fleets with a naval power of the first class. In the civilian hospitals of all the large cities, where our naval stations are located, we may need the assistance and abundant facilities their hospitals offer.

"For purposes of defense our coast is divided into naval districts. The activities of some ships are confined within a district, and for these ships we must find hospital facilities within their districts. All medical men who reside in coast cities may well consider what service they can render the navy in time of war.

Medical Officers.

"The duties of the medical officers in the navy are peculiar. They do not concern treatment of disease alone, but the broader field of preventing diseases, which are in a measure occupational. It is primarily a duty with ships and concerned with the ocean. The ship as a habitation has no features comparable to conditions on land. All the surroundings of the life are the unusual rather than the usual, the artificial rather than the natural. Immense furnaces in the interior of our ships produce conditions of great heat, unusual to an ordinary environment. The air for ventilating purposes which might enter a house from below and rise from level to level by natural movement, must be drawn from the top and distributed by artificial means, a form of mechanical respiration, so to speak, aerating the various constituent compartments.

"The water we drink is artificial, for these are no springs in the hull of the ship, and it must be manufactured from the elements in which we float. When the ship leaves port or stays for a long time on patrol or blockade duty, we can no longer have the fresh food which is enjoyed on shore, but food must be preserved. Below the deck and in the bowels of the ship a ray of sunlight can never reach, natural light can never penetrate. We are confronted with the problem of keeping fit the man who steps beyond his natural environment.

"Our work takes us into extremes of heat and extremes of cold. We go to corners of the earth where diseases exist that are little known to those who do not leave their own country. Our doctors are on observation duty in England, France and Germany. After the great war they will return to tell us of the advance made there in medicine and surgery."

Local Salesmanship Club Organized To Affiliate With World-Wide Body

At a luncheon of twenty sales managers of the largest concerns in Atlanta yesterday at the Piedmont hotel, plans were made for the organization in Atlanta of the Salesmanship Club of Atlanta as a branch of the national organization of the same name. Temporary officers were named, and at a meeting Monday night of next week at the same hotel formal organization will be perfected. Ivan Allen, of the Fielder & Allen company, was elected temporary chairman of the club; Chester A. Ragland, of the Pyrene Manufacturing company, temporary secretary, and Homer C. George, manager of the Atlanta theater and stunt manager of the Chalmers Motor company, chairman of the publicity committee. Announcement was made that at the coming meeting Monday night D. M. Barrett, national secretary of the World's Salesmanship congress, would make an address on the work of the organization, telling something of the good accomplished at the annual meeting in Detroit last summer.

Club's Motto.

The motto of the Salesmanship club is "better business through the betterment of salesmanship." The World's congress includes clubs from all over the country, the major body having more than 100 members, representing all the larger cities of America. The work of the organization consists in teaching salesmanship to all, the leaders holding that there is room for development in any man. There is nothing of commercialism or exploitation by vendors of questionable salesmanship doctrine, but the spreading of legitimate information and tips on all forms of salesmanship and handling of men. Bi-monthly sessions are held, at which lectures are delivered, typewritten copies going to each member.

In affiliating with the World's Salesmanship club the Atlanta organization becomes a part of the greatest salesmanship organization the world has ever produced. The leaders of this big organization are such men as Hugh Chalmers, president of the Chalmers Motor company; Edward Hines, the lumber king; Sir Thomas Lipton, N. A. Hawkins, Harry W. Ford, president of the Saxon company; D. M. Bartlett, H. M. Jewitt, of the Paige company; Joseph Mack, M. J. Murphy, Bentley P. Neff, of Duluth, and Edward A. Woods, of Pittsburg. At the annual meeting addresses are made by the world's leading sales managers.

Those at Meeting.

At the meeting yesterday those present were Ivan A. Allen, St. Elmo Massengale, Chester A. Ragland, William E. Dow, Ford Motor company; F. R. Graham, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company; F. W. Barnett, the Tabulating Machine company; Max Morris, Western Electric company; Walter C. Hill, Retail Credit company; C. W. Sawin, the Vitagraph company; J. M. Fraser, Seegar-Walraven Machinery company; J. B. Staadeker, Norris, Inc.; C. A. Beauchamp, the Remington company; Robert B. Swain, the Texas company; E. A. Kalkhurst, Burroughs Adding Machine company; W. M. McDonald, Fulton Supply company; Joseph D. Green, Baker-Bawter company; B. S. McCash, Coca-Cola company; W. O. Welch, Elliott-Fisher company; Grover McGaughee, Atlanta Retail Merchants' association; George L. Hunt, Phoenix Life Insurance company; and others.

All salesmanagers and salesmen of Atlanta interested in their own betterment and the betterment of general salesmanship are invited to attend Monday's meeting, which will be at 8 o'clock.

Business Man Opposes Neglecting Schools For Fair Building

Writing from Colorado Springs, where he is on a protracted visit for the benefit of his health, Ernest L. Rhodes, head of the Ernest L. Rhodes company, an old established and prominent business firm of Atlanta, protests against the suggested appropriation by the city council of $100,000 for a new building for the Southeastern fair, unless at the same time something is done to better the condition of the city's high school buildings. He holds that the city cannot afford at this time to expend money on enterprises other than those absolutely necessary, before making adequate provision for remedying the physical defects in our public school system.

Mr. Rhodes' communication follows:

Editor Constitution: As I will not be home in person, permit me through the columns of your great paper to enter my protest as a taxpayer and citizen of Atlanta and one that has ever worked for the commercial upbuilding of our great city in every way, against the incoming city council appropriating $100,000 for the Southeastern fair with the city's present income. I heartily approve of the fair and urged same some five years ago before the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, for I realized what a wonderful benefit it would be to the south. My firm took their share of fair stock and I also solicited other houses.

Now, are the finances of Atlanta in any condition without issuing half or a million dollars worth of bonds, of which I favor, to make any appropriations other than those of necessities? With her great crying need of public school buildings, the poorest of which is the Girls' High school building, or rather, I should say, old residences connected together by numerous corridors which form a death-trap in every way for fire as well as illness, and it is a fact that in cold weather the girls have to wear their wraps, and in severe cold weather the school has been dismissed on account of insufficient heat, the building being heated with seven or eight old furnaces, also some gas stoves. Again, there are no grounds for recreation and many other needs I could enumerate. We all must recognize that the most trying period of a girl's life is from the age of 13 to 16 years. I ask, which is of greater benefit to us in our present financial condition, which is worth more to the city of Atlanta, to give $100,000 to house animals and machinery for two weeks out of the fifty-two, or for a Girls' High school building, where said building will be used forty to forty-five weeks out of fifty-two, making stronger and better women and mothers by giving them the comforts and necessities they should have?

I would further criticise the loose expenditures of the school building funds for returns, as I call to mind the annex to Tenth street school, which was built in the summer of 1915. Said auditorium as yet has no heat, therefore can't be used over half of the session.

In every city and town that I have been in I find fine public school buildings. I can talk of Atlanta's great strides as a commercial city, of her varied manufactures, of the tall buildings, the great clearance house of the southeast so recognized by the United States government by placing one of the twelve regional banks there, but when it comes to her public school buildings, I must hang my head, for they are a disgrace to any city one-fourth her size. I refer you to the United States census report, as printed a short time ago in the columns of your valuable paper, which has ever been an advocate for better schools and buildings.

Yours truly,
ERNEST L. RHODES.

412 North Jejon street, Colorado Springs, Colo.

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

John R. Cooper, Macon attorney, intends opposing United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick in the 1918 election, according to word reaching Atlanta Tuesday. Mr. Cooper was one of several candidates defeated by Senator Hardwick in the last race.

Miss Ola Warner, 244 Oakland avenue, was knocked down by a street car Tuesday afternoon at the corner of Broad and Alabama streets and painfully bruised. She was thrown clear of the tracks when the car hit her, which explains her miraculous escape. After the accident she was able to go to her home.

A wife, ordered by her husband to leave his home and the city as well, did the very reverse yesterday, when Mrs. John E. Kerr caught Judge W. D. Ellis at a train in the Terminal Station and got his official signature to ne exeat proceedings ordering the arrest of Kerr and requiring him to give bond of $250 for the hearing of her alimony petition. Mrs. Kerr charges that her husband ordered her to pack her trunk, leave his home and return to her former home in Savannah.

The ordinance committee of council in its meeting yesterday afternoon voted to report adversely on the resolution to prohibit the use of the city auditorium for any sort of political meeting. The paper came to the committee from the last meeting of council. It was drawn and introduced in council by the Auditorium committee. It provides that the city Auditorium shall not be used at any time in the future for any sort of political meeting.

The county board of commissioners is preparing to go with other Fulton good road enthusiasts to the big rally at Douglasville next Monday in the interest of the proposed Bankhead highway from Atlanta to Memphis via Birmingham. Big delegations will be present from other communities, and the event assumes the aspect of an affair of interest in three states.

On Thursday, November 16, at 1 o'clock, the medical examiners of the Mutual Life Insurance company, in the agency of R. F. Shedden, local manager, will meet at luncheon at the Piedmont hotel. Dr. LeRoy W. Childs, referee, will receive them, and Dr. Francis D. Merchant, one of the medical directors of the home office, will be present.

The Atlanta Association of Life Insurers will meet at luncheon at the Ansley hotel at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 16. The speakers will be F. L. Hoffman, one of the greatest statisticians in the world, who comes from the home office of the Prudential Life Insurance company, and R. F. Maddox, president of the Atlanta National bank.

Will Miles, the convicted slayer of John H. Moore, prominent coal dealer, and Frank Hugle, his confederate, have each been granted a week's respite, due to the fact that Miles repudiated his confession to the effect that he had killed Mr. Moore, and his attorney had entered an appeal for a new trial. Miles was to have been hanged yesterday and Hugle Friday.

F. B. Jones, a striker, was arraigned in recorder's court Tuesday afternoon, charged with disorderly conduct. It is alleged that while witnessing the Wilson celebration Monday night he used insulting words to one of the street car men, in the presence of Officer Spratling. He was fined $10.75.

Will Jones, an enterprising negro boy, who, it is said, reaped a splendid harvest from his mania for automobile poker, was arraigned in recorder's court Tuesday. It is alleged that the negro boy would bet upon pairs of numbers on the license tags of the cars as they passed. To see who was the winner he would dart out in front of the cars, causing great annoyance to automobilists. He claims that he won 30 cents, and for his winnings he must serve a day for each cent won.

Many prominent Presbyterians, both of Atlanta and of the northern section of the state, left the city on their way to the synod of Georgia that is to be held at Dalton, beginning Tuesday night. The executive committee on the synod home mission and evangelism board, left Atlanta yesterday, since they held a pre-convention on Tuesday. The chairman and superintendent of the committee are Dr. R. D. Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, and Dr. M. G. Shields. The opening sermon of the convention will be preached by Dr. Joseph R. Sevier, of Augusta, moderator, and much interest is being manifest in the election of his successor. Among the prominent Atlantans attending were Dr. J. Sproull Lyons and Dr. Dunbar Ogden.

R. B. Stribling, chairman of the local committee of the Southern Cattlemen's association, has called a meeting for 11:30 o'clock this morning at room 404 Chamber of Commerce building, to make arrangements for entertaining delegates to the annual convention of the association, meeting in Atlanta on April 4, 5, 6 of next year. Several committees will be appointed and new officers of the local association will be elected.

The objects of the Southern Cattlemen's association are to stimulate the development of the cattle industry in the southern states, to protect the cattle interests in these states by securing and encouraging the enforcement of adequate laws and regulations for the control and eradication of disease, to secure to cattle producers and shippers the widest, best, and most competitive markets for their products, to secure to shippers of cattle just, fair, reasonable and equitable rates of freight and other charges, and to encourage the extension of a vigorous campaign against the cattle tick throughout the affected area.

An appeal is being made to owners of trucks and other vehicles for the immediate delivery of forty tons of coal to the homes of the needy here in Atlanta. One man has given the Associated Charities a car of coal and they have no means of delivering it. As the weather man predicted, the cold wave arrived last night and many are shivering while a car of coal is waiting to be delivered to them. The Charities have plenty of power to deliver the coal to, and they are worthy, too. Probably you are completely warm in your heavier clothing, sitting at ease in a steam-heated office or home, and your thoughts never turn to your fellow man. For just a second exchange shoes with the poor and think of what might be. Give part of that truck's time this morning and your heart will pulsate with the knowledge that you have in some small way contributed to the comfort of others. Call the Associated Charities and they will give explicit instructions and to where to make deliveries.

TRADE COMMISSION TO DRAFT BUSINESS ACCOUNTING SYSTEM

Members of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men were given a pleasant surprise at their monthly meeting last night in the form of a short address by W. J. Harris, of the federal trade commission.

Mr. Harris was not on the program of the meeting to make a speech, and was compelled to speak in advance of the credit men's dinner instead of afterwards, on account of the fact that he was entertaining some guests of his own at nearly the same hours.

He touched briefly on the steps being taken by the federal trade commission to formulate systems of accounting for every line of business and place the same at the disposal of business men throughout the country, and in this connection spoke of the enormous waste in business due to the lack of proper accounting.

"The commission deals with every kind of unfair competition," said Mr. Harris. "For example, if you have a competitor who is advertising falsely or fraudulently, the commission will stop him if you will bring the matter to our attention. The purpose and policy of the commission is to give every business, both large and small, a fair chance."

Mr. Harris' remarks were received with a great deal of interest and he was cordially thanked.

Other matters taken up at the meeting were the campaign for new members, on which H. L. Collingsworth, chairman of the membership committee, reported; increased use of the credit exchange bureau of the association, which was urged by H. E. Choate, E. S. Papy and others; and the question of inviting the National Association of Credit Men to hold its 1918 annual convention in Atlanta.

A special committee appointed to look into this question reported in favor of extending the invitation, and the question will be submitted for general discussion and a vote at the next meeting on the second Tuesday in December.

POLICE GUARD HOME OF JUDGE BROYLES

Crazy Man, Laboring Under Delusion, Seeks to Assassinate Jurist.

Police officers guarded the home of Judge Nash Broyles, of the state court of appeals, last night until midnight to keep a crazy man, supposedly named Frank Wallace, from shooting him.

Late Tuesday afternoon the man called at the judge's office in the capitol and asked to see him. He was told the judge was busy and asked to call later. Shortly afterwards a man answering the description of this man called at the Broyles home, 86 East Merritts avenue. He rang the bell and when the negro maid opened the door covered her with a pistol.

"Excuse me, I thought that Judge Broyles would answer the door, and I'll kill him yet," the man said, and dashed off. Immediately Mrs. Broyles phoned the judge and warned him.

Meanwhile, the police were notified and went to the home and searched the neighborhood. They remained at the home until midnight when Judge Broyles told them he did not need them longer, as he could take care of himself if any one should attempt to enter the home.

The man who threatened Judge Broyles is described as 40 or 50 years old, and is probably a Cuban, as he is dark skinned. It is believed he is a dope fiend laboring under a delusion.

M'CLURE DECLINES TO ENTER RACE AGAINST CANDLER

C. W. McClure will not run for mayor of Atlanta on the independent ticket.

Mr. McClure gave out a written statement on Tuesday in which he declined the nomination on the ground that he did not think it best for Atlanta and organized labor for him to offer in opposition to the regular democratic nominee.

The committee which nominated Mr. McClure for mayor expressed disappointment Tuesday afternoon, but stated that they would hold another meeting Wednesday, and that some other candidate would be selected to oppose Asa G. Candler at the polls in December.

ALLEGED DEW BOY KILLED BY DEPUTY IN HARRIS COUNTY

West Point, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—Parnell Cook was shot and killed by Jeff Gauntt, a deputy sheriff from LaGrange, at noon today. Several revenue officers had gone into Harris county, nine miles from West Point, with the sheriff to raid a still which Cook operated, it is alleged. Cook resisted arrest and, while trying to escape, turned his pistol on Gauntt, who shot him. Several hundred gallons of beer and whisky were found at the still.

James D. Price Takes Cattle and Hog Census For Vicinity of Macon

James D. Price, state commissioner of agriculture, has just completed a census of cattle and hogs within a radius of 50 miles of Macon, to be used as argument for increasing the capacity of the packing house which is to be created from the former brewery in Macon. This census shows 80,000 head of cattle and 200,000 hogs.

SOLDIERS ARE READY TO EVICT STRIKERS

Anderson, S. C., November 14.—The first arrest by the militia since the five companies of coast artillery have been here in connection with the strike at the Equinox and Gluck mills, was made today when S. H. King was arrested, charged with cursing an employee going to work in the mill. When he was searched he was found to have a revolver. His trial will be held tomorrow, bail having been granted this afternoon.

Two companies have been sent to guard the property at the Gluck mill, which has not yet resumed operations. Five writs of ejectment have been secured against residents of the Gluck village and constables will serve these when the military companies have established themselves. Another striking employee was ejected from the mill's property at the Equinox plant today. There are approximately 100 families in the two villages who have been notified to leave the mill's houses. Should they fail or refuse to leave, steps will taken to secure writs of ejectment.

Dr. Dumba Not Dead.

CHRISTIAN CHURCHES BEGIN CONVENTION

Annual Sermon Is Preached by Rev. Howard T. Cree, of Augusta.

Athens, Ga., November 14.—(Special.) The sixty-ninth annual state convention of the Christian churches of Georgia met this afternoon in the First Christian church, this place, with slightly more than 200 delegates, clerical and lay, in attendance—all readily assigned to their homes.

In connection with the general convention of the church the woman's missionary interests are holding their annual state meeting and both the Sunday school and the Christian Endeavor interests are likewise represented in special programs, with additional delegates.

Dr. Burnham's place on the program this evening was ably filled by Dr. Howard T. Cree, pastor of the church in Augusta, who preached the set convention sermon tonight instead of waiting till tomorrow night.

This afternoon the usual initial exercises of welcome and response were held; the address of the president for the state, Dr. W. F. Mott, minister at Dublin, Ga., was a feature of the hour, outlining the history of the church in Georgia, analyzing the present situation and holding up the plans for the immediate future progress of the denomination.

Rev. John H. Wood spoke appropriately on "How to Get the Most and the Best Out of the Convention," at the first session, and the evening address was on the "Call to the Ministry," by Rev. Allen Wilson.

STARTLING PHOTO-PLAY RETURNS TO ATLANTA

A picture which has created a profound impression upon those who have seen it is "Where Are My Children," which comes to the Georgian theater Thursday for a three-days' run. Through and through the story is intensely dramatic, depending not for a moment upon extrinsic situations, but dealing fearlessly and courageously with the issues of life that are worth while. It calls forth a depth of feeling that gives full opportunity for the histrionic ability that has made Tyrone Powers, who plays the leading part, famous, and every noble human emotion responds to his masterly interpretation.

Dr. Parkhurst, of New York, in speaking of this picture, says: "I want to express my own deep interest in and admiration for 'Where Are My Children?' I have three times witnessed its presentation, and I believe it to be fitted to draw attention in a dignified way to a matter that is just now pressing on the public mind." and Louis L. Krauss, president of the bureau of moral hygienics, adds that "It will help us to solve the greatest problem of life."

PRESIDENT IS INVITED TO ATTEND LAND SHOW

There will be a number of celebrities at the Southeastern Land show February 1 to 15 in Atlanta, but the most notable of these may be President Wilson himself, whom the executive committee decided Tuesday to invite to be Atlanta's guest at that time. Mrs. Wilson also will be extended an invitation.

Not only a written invitation will be extended, but a delegation of prominent Atlanta citizens, as well as citizens from other sections, will be sent to help the President to realize how badly he is wanted. The citizens who will make up the delegation will be named at the next meeting of the executive committee.

The governors of Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina and Florida will be invited, along with Dr. Alfredo Zayas, the new president of the Cuban republic.

GETS $450 FOR BALE OF SEA ISLAND COTTON

Moultrie, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—John Patterson, a negro farmer of Colquitt county, yesterday sold a bale of sea island cotton and the seed from it for the sum of $450. He received 50 cents a pound for the cotton. The bale weighed 796 pounds and the staple alone brought $395. This is by far the highest price that a bale of cotton ever sold for on the local market. The sea island crop of the county was unusually good this year and the growers of it are so pleased with the fabulous price they have received for it that it is believed the acreage in long staple will be greatly increased next year, despite the fact that the government experts say that it is liked better by the boll weevil than short cotton.

DAVID DISMISSED.

Police Board Urges Exact Law Enforcement by Force.

Expressing the belief that the board should stand for the full enforcement of the law, and back the police force in its efforts to uphold the law, the board of police commissioners at a meeting held at police headquarters Tuesday night unanimously voted to dismiss from the force Patrolman R. T. David, who, it is alleged, was caught with about four and one-half gallons of whisky in his Ford automobile, while he and some friends were passing through Marietta, Ga., last Monday night, a week ago.

Mr. David told the commissioners that he was unaware of the whisky's being in the car.

Jim Palmer, driver of one of the patrol wagons, was exonerated from the charge that he had expressed sympathy for the strikers. The officer denied that he had been guilty of the charges, and witnesses testified that they did not hear such expression from him.

Chief Newport Lanford, who is quite ill and unable to be on duty, was granted a vacation with pay until the first of the oncoming year, and it was announced that a twelve months' salary, by section 2008 of the city code, had been granted to the widow of Patrolman Armistead, who was recently killed by a negro whom he was undertaking to arrest.

Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low, Scout Leader To Explain Work of Organization

MRS. JULIETTE GORDON LOW,

Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low, organizer and president of the Girl Scouts of America, arrived in the city this morning from Savannah, and is at the Georgian Terrace hotel. She will speak this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting is under the auspices of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, and to it are invited all the women of Atlanta who are interested in the movement. The girls of the educational institutions of the city are especially invited, also members of college sororities, and the Atlanta branch of the National Association of College Women.

The purpose of the meeting is to establish a branch of the Girl Scouts of America in this and adjoining communities, and the principles of the movement will be clearly set forth by Mrs. Low, a brilliant speaker, now sought for in the west and east to explain the work. She goes from here to Washington city, and from there to New York and Boston, in all of which centers the Girl Scouts have offices.

Literature will be distributed at the meeting this afternoon pertaining to organization, and an open discussion will follow Mrs. Low's address when questions will be carefully answered.

Miss Kollock, secretary of the organization, will be present at the meeting, and will remain in the city several days to perfect organization here.

AMUSEMENTS

"Very Good Eddie."

(At the Atlanta.)

There is no punctuation mark of any kind whatsoever in "Very Good Eddie," which the Marbury-Comstock company has at the Atlanta this afternoon and tonight. The Marbury-Comstock company is very anxious to impress this fact upon the public mind, having just lost $354 because the printer entrusted with the getting up of the large "eight sheets," which this moment should be adorning the local landscape, inadvertently allowed an apparently innocent little comma to get by. As it would never do to paste up signs reading, "Very Good, Eddie," when they should read, "Very Good Eddie," and as responsibility for this error was found to rest entirely not with the printer, but with the Marbury-Comstock company office, it was decided that the best way out of the difficulty was to dump the whole consignment into the discard and charge it to profit and loss.

"The House of Glass."

(At the Atlanta.)

"The House of Glass," which comes to the Atlanta theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, next, with a Saturday matinee, tells an absorbing sorty of big affairs and of a woman, gentle and true, whose great misfortunes only make her more kind and pitying toward others. Margaret Case, a young New York stenographer, about to marry a young man who turns out to be a thief, is arrested as an accomplice, convicted, serves part of her time and then breaks the parole on which she is released. She goes west and there marries the man who has employed her as his stenographer. He is called to New York to occupy an important post as general manager of a railroad. His wife goes with him. The husband is striving to put behind the bars a boy who has robbed the railroad company. A detective comes to his house to talk over the boy's case, sees his wife, recognizes her as the quarry he has long been seeking. Her conduct betrays to her husband what has happened and the whole story of her former life is revealed. In the meantime the governor of the state arrives to ask Mr. Lake to drop the case of the young boy. Now the husband consents to discontinue all prosecution of the boy if the governor will pardon his innocent wife, which request is granted. So ends the story. Messrs. Cohan & Harris have supplied a cast of unusual strength for the interpretation of "The House of Glass," headed by Adelina O'Connor. New York city patronized this play for eight solid months last season. Seats are now selling for the entire engagement.

Horace Wright—Rene Dietrich

(At the Forsyth.)

Seldom has a vaudeville bill struck a more responsive chord than the program of stellar Keith features that are being offered at the Forsyth this week. On a bill that provides mirth, melody, beauty and novelty in delighting abundance, Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, already favorites in Atlanta, present a brand-new assortment of songs that make them more liked than ever. Before an elegant modern art drop, designed by Miss Dietrich, these two sing such new hits as "My Little Coal Black Rose," the novel "burglar" parody on the Rigoletto quartet and others, concluding with alluring Hawaiian melodies for which they are famous.

Other acts Manager Hickman offers are Willard Simms in a comedy sketch, Joe Boganny's Lunatic Bakers, a New York Hipprodrome feature; the Asana Students, a big imported musical act; Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace in a ventriloquial novelty; Goiet, Harris and Molay in a splendidly received musical turn, and the four Ishikawa brothers in one of the most extraordinary of equilibrist acts.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Fundamentally a family source of amusement, the Grand, under the Marcus Loew regime, is attracting thousands of young folks. The vaudeville offerings are of the highest caliber, pleasing to every member of the family, and the picture attractions are selected from the best studios. This week's bill is headed by the Tyrolean Troubadors, a lavish scenic, singing and music attraction, and reputed to be one of the most engaging acts imported in many seasons. The remainder of the bill is equally as attractive, and is combined of Lee Baggs and company of players in "The Old Folks at Home," a dramatic playlet; Al Wohman, the song writer, and company; Dunbar and Turner, singers, dancers, and Prevost and Goelet, vaudeville's naive eccentrics. The picture bill is featured by Ethel Clayton and Carlyle Blackwell in "The Madness of Helen," an elaborate Brady-World production.

Reed and Hudson.

(At the Piedmont.)

It is seldom that a musical team with as much real class to their act reaches Atlanta as has that of Reed and Hudson, who are at the Piedmont theater, in connection with the vaudeville program. Both man and woman are gifted with voices of considerably more than the usual quality found in vaudeville; the young lady has good looks aplenty and both know well how to dress the act. The Randow Trio is also coming in for much favorable comment. Their turn is different in every respect, being of an acrobatic nature. They do many difficult tricks and in addition inject genuine humor throughout their entire time upon the stage.

Today will be the last time for this bill and also the last opportunity of seeing "Niobe," the water sprite, who is being held over these three days.

Mae Murray.

(At Alamo No. 2.)

Today at the Alamo No. 2 Mae Murray will be seen in her latest success, "The Plow Girl." It is a picture which will carry the audience from the South American veldt to the drawing rooms of fashionable London society. The story has to do with Margot, the drudge of a drunken South American farmer. She is sold by her father to a saloonkeeper, but rescued by a titled English woman, who is in search of her lost grandchild. A scheming relative, in order to obtain money, selects Margot to impersonate the grandchild, and how Margot is trained into a young society woman, and finally turns the tables on the schemer when she comes into her own, is interestingly acted throughout by Miss Murray.

Film of "Extravagance."

(At the Strand.)

The daughter finds the road pretty hard in "Extravagance" when she endeavors to keep pace with her frineds in the social set in spite of the fact that the fortune of her family is only a dream of the past. Olga Petrova has this role of the extravagant woman—just the sort of role in which you expect this Polish actress to do the greatest work of her screen career.

The film will be shown at the Strand today and Thursday. It's a story of society, all right, and social ambitions that are crushed in society's mad whirl.

"Anton, the Terrible."

(At the Georgian.)

Theodore Roberts and Anita King in "Anton, the Terrible," written by Jules Eckert Goodman from The Saturday Evening Post's story by Thomas H. Uzzell, will be the attraction at the Georgian theater today. This gripping story of political intrigue in connection with the European war was the cause of much comment when it appeared in The Saturday Evening Post and in the hands of the masterful character actor. Theodore Roberts and beautiful Anita King, the photo-play is of more than usual interest. In addition the production is a lavish one and contains many beautiful scenes which are laid for the most of the time in Russia. This picture is being shown today only.

William S. Hart.

William S. Hart and Louise Glaum are the second pair of stars in the Criterion's "Reunion of Favorites Week." The intrepid gunman and the alluring vampire will appear today in "The Return of Draw Egan." This picture had a previous showing at the Criterion and was so popular that it was booked for a return during this big week.

Like all the Hart pictures, it is loaded to the barrel with action and there are enough tense situations to give even the most blase playgoer new thrills.

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

What Becomes of Each $100 Received by the Southern

OF each $100 received in revenue by the Southern Railway Company, approximately $40 is paid in wages to employes who live in the Southern States;

$20 of each $100 is spent in the South for materials and supplies;

$7 is used in the South for miscellaneous operating expenses;

More than $3.50 of each $100 received is paid out in the South for taxes;

Thus $70.50 of each $100 received by the Southern Railway is spent in the South, although less than $70 of every $100 received by the Southern Railway is derived from the South.

In other words, the Southern Railway is every day bringing new money into the South.

The Southern needs the encouragement and confidence of the public in its honest effort to

Popular Subscriptions Swell Fund for Armistead's Widow

W. E. Armistead, policeman shot by negro early Monday morning; his widow and 4-year-old son.

Generous Atlanta poured forth its offerings to the widow of Policeman W. E. Armistead, who was killed early Monday morning by a negro assassin at Orme and Simpson streets, and the relief fund was swelled last night to $467.

A total of $140.55 was added to the fund after nightfall, Call Officer Jack Malcomb leading in getting up money for the fund. Officer Malcomb, who is one of the youngest officers on the force, not only gave as much to the fund as any other policeman, but last night got out and raised $50 by himself.

The police board of commissioners at their regular monthly meeting last night passed resolutions requesting Mayor Woodward and general council to offer $500 reward for the capture of the negro murderer of Officer Armistead. Governor Harris Tuesday offered a reward of $250.

The funeral of the deceased policeman was held Tuesday from the residence, 16 Connecticut avenue. The interment was at the Decatur cemetery.

Mrs. I. Springer announces that she will run a benefit movie Sunday for the fund at the Alpha theater.

Miss Nola Brown, a trained nurse, who lives at 117 Cooper street, stated to a Constitution reporter last night that she would give her professional services to the widow of Armistead for three weeks without cost. Mrs. Armistead is to become a mother of a second child in a few days and will need the services of a nurse.

Negro Congregationalists Hold Annual Convention Here, Beginning Today

The colored Congregationalists of Georgia met in their annual session this morning at 10 o'clock at the First Congregational church, colored, and continue in session throughout the week, including Sunday. P. A. Denegal, librarian of the Colored Carnegie library, of Savannah, is moderator.

An address of welcome will be given this morning by Dr. H. H. Proctor. Other addresses will be made by Dr. James Bond, of this city, and the Rev. D. J. Flynn, of Charlotte, N. C. Reports of churches will be given.

Tonight, at 7:30 o'clock the annual sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. W. Holloway, of Thebes, Ga. Devotional exercises will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Pickens, of Marietta.

This convention will bring to Atlanta some of the leading Congregationalists of the country. Among these will be Rev. H. Paul Douglass, of New York city, secretary of the American Missionary association; Rev. J. W. Bixler, of New London, Conn.; Rev. D. J. Flynn, of Charlotte, N. C., superintendent of Congregational churches in Georgia and the Carolinas; Rev. H. M. Kingsley, superintendent of Congregational churches of Tennessee, Alabama and Florida, and Dr. J. P. O'Brien, educational secretary for the south, Kansas City, Mo.

Some of the delegates arrived last night, and others will arrive this morning. All the sessions are open to the general public.

JUDGE HAMMOND HOLDS COURT IN JEFFERSON

Louisville, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—The November term of the superior court of Jefferson county is in session this week, a large docket is on hand and the indications are that most of the week will be consumed without disposing of all the cases. Judge H. C. Hammond, of Augusta, has been presiding for the first two days to try cases in which Judge R. N. Hardman was disqualified. Judge Hammond is well known here and has many friends in Jefferson county who are glad to welcome him.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night, what become of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Jacobs' Pharmacy and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

Third Grade Teacher Shows Parents How She Instructs Children

Do you know what a land show really is? If you do not you should have been at Peepies Street school Tuesday night and watched Miss Annie Ruth Nichols, teacher of the third grade, conduct, with five boys and five girls from her class, a model lesson demonstration, showing modern methods of imparting information to the child mind, finally bringing to light something of what really constitutes a land show. The occasion was the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the school at which 200 were present.

Miss Nichols led the children to think hard by asking questions which would suggest an answer. Finally, she asked a question which brought up the word "show," and by some sudden inspiration she thought of the Southeastern Land show to be held in Atlanta next February 1-15. She asked them if they knew what a land show really was, which was met by a dazed expression on many countenances of both old and young. Then she told them what it was.

OVERTON WILL MOVE FOR CHANGE OF VENUE

When He Is Arraigned at Huntsville Today for the Murder of Lawler.

Huntsville, Ala., November 14.—David D. Overton, former clerk of the Madison county circuit court, charged with the murder in Huntsville last June of Probate Judge W. T. Lawler, was brought here from Montgomery late today, and tomorrow will be arraigned before Judge B. M. Miller, of the fourth Alabama judicial circuit, appointed by the governor to preside over the Overton trial. A motion by Overton's counsel for a change of venue is expected.

Judge Miller yesterday organized a grand jury for the term, warned against carrying concealed weapons, and charged the jury to look for the "big fellows" and the "men higher up." "There is no pleasure," he said, "in catching minnows. The fun comes in conquering a big, fat trout. That is the rule for you to follow. Look high for iniquity. Punish the big fellows and the little ones will fall in line."

A fine of $100 was imposed on Dars Steager, a Huntsville merchant, for alleged failure to be in court when his name was called for jury service.

Indictments, which it is believed will have a bearing on the Overton trial, are expected by the end of the week.

State's attorneys and counsel for Overton are here making preparations for the trial. Attorneys do not expect to enter into a trial before early next week.

BRIEFS SUBMITTED IN HIGHEST COURT TO TEST ORDINANCE

Washington, November 14.—Constitutionality of the Atlanta ordinance requiring private detectives to be licensed is attacked in a case submitted to the supreme court today by Dan S. Lehon, of New Orleans, distrist manager of the W. J. Burns Detective agency, who aided in the defense of Leo M. Frank. Lehon was fined under the ordinance and he contends that his prosecution for failure to secure a license denied him and Frank constitutional rights.

The case was submitted to the supreme court on briefs and without oral argument.

The case being fought by Lehon in the United States supreme court was appealed from Fulton superior court through every accessible branch of the state judiciary. The William J. Burns Detective agency license was revoked, it will be remembered, during the sensational investigation Burns conducted into the Frank case. Lehon was one of Burns' most conspicuous aides.

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best Doctor is often unable to find the cause of many of these headaches, and in most other cases, knowing the cause, he does not know what will remove it, so as to give a permanent cure. All he can do is to prescribe the usual pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, no matter what their nature, take Anti-kamnia Tablets, and the results will be satisfactory in the highest degree. You can obtain them at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth, 25c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick-headache, the most miserable of all sicknesses, loses its terrors when A-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on, take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be warded off. During an attack take one A-K Tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort which follow, can be obtained in no other way.

Genuine A-K Tablets bear the K monogram. At all druggists.

Relieves Serious Case of Chronic Constipation

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Corrects Condition That Seemed Hopeless.

After suffering from chronic constipation until she was so run down she was unable to do any kind of work, Miss H. A. Frees, 209 Adams St., Dayton, Ohio, obtained a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and used it with such gratifying results that she continued the treatment and has written to Dr. Caldwell that her condition is again normal, and that she wants to recommend Syrup Pepsin to everyone who suffers with constipation.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, gentle in its action and free from griping or other pain or discomfort. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, and, while acting readily on the most stubborn case of inactive bowels, is absolutely safe for the tiniest babe, so that it is the ideal family laxative and should be kept on hand in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin costs only fifty cents a bottle and is sold in drug stores everywhere. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. FINE OFFICIALS FOR BIG GAME

Edited by DICK JEMISON

Little Cause for Worry Over Officials of Game; Cripples May All Play

Tickets for the Georgia-Tech game at Athens Saturday will be placed on sale at Jacobs' Pharmacy, Marietta street store, tomorrow morning.

By Dick Jemison.

Good officiating is as much a part of a football game as the players themselves. The referee and umpire, the two chief officials in a game, can make or break it.

In Saturday's game between Georgia and Tech there is little to fear from the officiating standpoint. In fact, the officiating should be as much a feature of the game as the work of the two elevens.

Nichols, of Oberlin, has been selected as the referee and McGoffin, of Michigan, as the umpire. The field judge and the head linesman have not yet been announced.

It is entirely up to the referee as to whether or not the game proceeds without any unnecessary delays.

Nichols a Wonder.

This fellow Nichols worked the Georgia-Tech game last season in all that rain and mud. And we use the word "worked" advisedly. It covers his case exactly, and no other word would fit it.

Nichols' performance was a treat to the spectators. In the history of football in Atlanta no referee has ever followed a ball so closely as this man. No man on either eleven kept his eye glued on that sphere any closer.

Nichols ran with the ball over all parts of the field, and when it came to a standstill there he was diving over the sprawling players into the thick of the mass, blowing his whistle and letting his presence be known.

He handled this game in such approved fashion that when the talk of officials was broached this fall the two schools did not hesitate in agreeing on him and those who did not see him work last year missed something.

Paul McGoffin, of Michigan, not an unfamiliar figure to Athens and Atlanta football fans, will umpire. McGoffin refereed the Tech-Alabama game last Saturday. He has officiated in many of the biggest games in the south and is an excellent official.

There will be no dragging, there will be plenty of action, and the decisions will be impartial with these men handling the whistle Saturday.

The Hospital Lists.

Reports from the rival camps are to the effect that they are expecting their cripples to round to form and get into the game.

Out at Tech, Captain Johnston, who, injured in the Auburn game last year, has not been able to play more than parts of two quarters in any game this season, has been carefully nursed for the game with Tech's old rivals, and he is about fit for the game of his career.

Froggie Morrison has recovered from his cold. Hugh Mauck's injured knee has about mended, while Strupper, Alexander, Fincher, Spence and the others who had minor hurts are expected to be in the best of condition.

Over at Georgia, Pew's condition is the cause of chief worry. The big end is threatened with blood poisoning, but it is stated that the squad physician hopes to bring him around.

Bull Garmany, the big center, and Wingate, the lanky tackle, are both being brought along carefully, being kept out of scrimmages and the like in order that they may be physically fit for the contest.

From the present angle it looks like both elevens will be able to put on their full strength for the battle. There can therefore be no alibiing.

Monster Crowd.

Athens is expecting a record crowd. The sale of seats in advance of the game is proof. There will hardly be a vacant seat of the 10,000 with which Sanford Mead is equipped when Referee Nichols sounds his whistle at 3 o'clock (eastern time) on Saturday.

No automobiles will be allowed on the field and it is therefore expected that in addition to the seating capacity that all the available standing room will bring the crowd to within the neighborhood of 15,000.

Reservations at all the Athens hotels long ago gave out. Private homes have been invaded by friends of Athenians. All the restaurants and cafes are expected to do a record business.

The first invasion of Athens will occur Friday, but Saturday morning the real invasion will occur, when automobile parties from all over Georgia will pour into the city and the special trains from Atlanta, Macon, Milledgeville, Augusta and other points will unload their human cargoes.

Reports from Athens are to the effect that the city is beginning to take on a touch of color. The merchants are decorating for the big game, and it is said that streamers of Old Gold and White will be prominently displayed, these streamers bearing the lettering, "Welcome, Georgia Tech."

Everything else of interest has faded into insignificance in Georgia in advance of the game. The talk in every city is of the approaching contest.

The general opinion prevailing seems to be that the issue is in doubt. As to the odds, they are at even money. Some Georgia supporters are demanding pointing. Some of the most ardent Tech supporters are foolish enough to give them, but six seems to be the most they will permit.

This would indicate that many give the Jackets the edge in advance of the game. Maybe they have it. Maybe their record shows it. But from our way of thinking, the psychology in this game is too great to consider it other than a toss-up, though with the returns in, it may look differently.

QUERIES ANSWERED

(Under this head, the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.)

Inasmuch as Walter Camp has ruled that the field goal scored by Auburn against Georgia is illegal, how about the fellows who put their money on the Red and Black? Do they lose or are bets off? B. M.

Inasmuch as the referee allowed the field goal, any subsequent ruling is without avail.

1. How many first downs did Georgia and Tech make last year without the aid of penalties? 2. When did Lang enter Tech? How many years has he played on Tech's Team? FAN.

1. Tech 8, Georgia 7. 2. I do not know when Lang entered Tech, but this is his fourth year on the football team.

Fifth Aggies Win.

Monroe, Ga., November 14.—(Special.) Yesterday afternoon the Fifth District Aggies beat the Eighth District Aggies 71 to 0. The Fifth district boys scored at will in every quarter and their goal was never in danger. The game was fairly free from roughness and both teams played hard, but the Eighth district boys were outclassed.

Hooper Wins.

Jacksonville, Fla., November 14.—(Special.)—Billie Hooper, the colored middleweight boxer of Atlanta, knocked out Black Gunboat here last Friday night in seven rounds of a scheduled fifteen-round bout. Hooper will meet Silent Happy, of Memphis, Tenn., here on November 17.

BASEBALL LEAGUES IN ANNUAL SESSION

Farrell's Report Is Submitted. Important Questions to Be Settled.

New Orleans, November 14.—Following discussion of the annual report of Secretary John H. Farrell, appointment of committees and a preliminary conference by representatives of class B leagues, the delegates to the annual meeting of the National Association of Baseball Leagues late today cleared the way for consideration tomorrow of some of the more important questions scheduled for settlement during the sessions here.

"The conference of representatives of class B leagues resulted in the announcement that a formal request would be made for representation on the national commission of the minor leagues' organization. The minor leagues, it was contended, have more need of representation on the national commission than the Baseball Players' fraternity. A resolution to this effect will be drawn up by the committee on resolutions, it was announced, and will be submitted to the delegates tomorrow or Thursday.

The national board of arbitration will on Wednesday hand down decisions on 138 disputed cases which have been submitted for settlement.

Representatives of sixteen minor leagues, comprising about 200 delegates, were present at the opening session today and were welcomed to New Orleans by Mayor Behrman. Vice President T. H. Murnane presided at the session in the absence of President M. H. Sexton. None of the members of the national commission was in attendance. The leagues without representation at the meeting were:

North Carolina association, Canadian, Ohio State, Kentucky-Illinois-Tennessee, Interstate, Central Texas, Georgia-Alabama, Blueridge, Potomac and Dixie.

A harbor trip during the afternoon and a smoker tonight completed the opening day entertainment features.

The sessions will continue through Thursday.

EMORY SENIORS WIN; FRESHIES-JUNIORS TIE

Emory University, Oxford, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—The Emory student body had a chance to witness two football games, the like of which have not been seen in a long time. In the first game the score was: Seniors 6, Sophomores 0; in the second game the score was: Juniors 0, Freshmen 0. The Senior-Sophomore game sewed up the pennant for the Seniors and put the Sophomores out of the running Dickey won the game for the Seniors by two pretty drop kicks; one in the second period and from the 28-yard line, and the other in the third quarters from the 32-yard line. It has been some time since a game was won at Emory by a field goal. Time alone kept the Sophomores from scoring, for, when the game ended, they were on the Seniors' 5-yard line, where they had brought the ball from their own 10-yard line by line plunging. Dickey and Christian starred for the seniors, while Jones, Walker, Butler and Blair played well for the Sohomores. At several times during the game it looked as though it were going to end in a free-for-all fight. In the second game Harmon and Pilcher starred for the Freshmen, while Lester and Malone played well for the Juniors.

The line-ups were as follows:

IRVING COBB WRITES OF THE HORSE SHOW

New York is now in the throes of its annual horse show. Considered as a sporting spectacle, this same horse show is about on a par with crokinole or checkers. But it hasn't showed in vain, for it once gave Irvin S. Cobb a chance to spread himself in one of the fanciest bits of newspaper writing ever pulled off in print. That was some years ago, before old Irv had been put into book form, and before he had become a bloated plutocrat of the magazines. He was then a reporter on the staff of The New York Evening World—and some reporter! They sent Irv to "cover" the horse show in the Garden, and he wrote, in part, as follows:

"Society came back again, martyring itself to make a horse's holiday—came back a trifle more jaded, perhaps, and maybe a wee mite puffier under the eyes, but nevertheless the same old Society, all dressed up and highly perfumed. And the Garden was all smelled up with money again, and the horses came forth and behaved as horses will when they're broken into society and quit being regular horses. And all went merry as a muffled drum. . . . Nor could the lay eye note many changes in costumes. It was still the proper thing for a woman to be half out of her box and half in her gown. As for the male escorts, they all wore their white ties and white gloves and their white pearl studs and half-shell vests, like so many dear departeds. I did note down that Mrs. Maybelle Gilman Corey was wearing only part of her portable jewelry, and that she had changed her diamond and pearl eardrops, size seven and three-eighths, for a pair of green, large green emeralds, which hung down glittering on each side and put you in mind of a Lenox avenue local."

As to the gentleman riders, Irv observed:

"I was pained to note that all of last evening's gentleman riders rode English fashion, which, I take it, was invented by a man who was nervous by nature and hated to stay long in one place. When a man hits the saddle about once in so long and then bounces up so high that you can see the tailor's label on the reinforced seat of his riding pants, and at the same time you get a view of one whole end of the Garden encircled in an oval frame formed by the gentleman's legs, you can't help thinking that he has something personal against the horse and wants to have as little to do with him as possible."

Kircher Marries.

Birmingham, November 14.—George Kircher, one of the greatest comedians in Southern baseball, married Miss Amelia Dittrich, a Birmingham girl, at the home of the bride Wednesday afternoon. Kircher played in the Southern league for three years and finished out the past season with Richmond, Va., in the International league.

TENNESSEE SHOCK AWAKENS VANDY

Commodores Realize Now They Are Not the Whole Pumpkins in the Southern Football World.

Nashville, Tenn., November 14.—(Special.)—The single bright spot in the gloom surrounding the startling humiliation of the Commodores at the hands of Tennessee and the blasting of their chances for the Dixie title, is that the stunning defeat has been the means of awakening the McGugin machine to the dangers attendant to over-confidence. That same menace threatened to develop in the Vandy camp prior to the Virginia game, but by vigorous effort it was finally stamped out.

Yet that same under-estimation of a rival's strength, coupled with a complete collapse of the McGugin machine, both offensively aand defensively, and an aparent inability to rally in the face of Tennessee's unexpected strong attack, cost the Commodores a right to bid for the championship in Dixie. But if the costly lesson should prove the means of stimulating the Vanderbilt eleven to a comeback that would result in a victory over both Auburn and Sewanee the struggle for the title might then be in such a snarl that the real identity of the winner would be so obscured that the comparative score plan of 1914 would again be employed.

Such procedure would entail little credit to Vanderbilt, particular when the 1916 machine has been hailed as the best in the past six years by followers of football, but the Commodores are now in the position of saving what little they can from the wreckage left by the Tennessee submarine. One week ago an even chance was figured against Mike Donahue's Plainsmen. Now the Commodores will need a complete reversal of form to get abreast of that same even chance.

Ragged Playing.

Nothing quite so ragged as their showing against Tennessee has been exhibited by a Vanderbilt November team in years. That is years that were not already lean from the start. The tackling of such stellar performers as Cody and Williams was slipshod. The interference was practically nil. When it formed it was both belated and thin and for that reason Curry was unable to flash any of his former brilliancy. His 70-yard sprint for a touchdown was not behind interference, but through a hole in the line through which he shot when he found the Tennessee ends crowding in upon him.

Still the Commodore captain made more than half of the total yardage gained from scrimmage by Vanderbilt, his individual efforts, netting 128 yards out of the entire 209 made by the Commodores. Outside of Curry's runs from fake punt formation the Commodores had no attack with a punch. The backs were repeatedly hurled for losses by the powerful Tennessee forwards. On thirteen out of twenty-three plays from scrimmage, a Vanderbilt back was thrown for a loss.

Forward Passing Poor.

The forward passing displayed against Tennessee was nothing short of atrocious. But one effort was successful out of eight attemps, no blocking being done for the receiver and the throws being erratic on the part of both Curry and Ray.

On the other hand, Tennessee worked two passes out of six trials and one paved the way for a touchdown.

Zerfess was steadily outpunted by Hatcher, whose work was nothing short of phenomenal, yet the Vanderbilt kicker was far below the form he displayed against Virginia.

To prepare for the Auburn combat Vanderbilt starts in wretched physical condition. Red Floyd wrenched a knee on the first play against Tennessee, Carman, the big guard, sustained a severely bruished shoulder, while Hamilton and Lipscomb plainly showed the effects of their chills and fever attacks. Still the work of the two forwards was not below that of the regular linesmen, for Cody and Williams were badly off color.

The Commodores are in the throes of one of the worst slumps of their career. Whether the coaches can bring the eleven back to a formidable stage in time for Auburn is a matter for the fortune tellers.

BOLL WEEVIL CLUBS FORMED IN GEORGIA BY FEDERAL AGENT

Americus, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—J. G. Oliver, with headquarters at Americus, in charge of the statewide fight on the boll weevil being designated by the federal government, has issued a statement of the plans by which the governmental agents intend to carry on the work, joining hands with all parties and organizations, and especially the demonstration agents in the several counties. The attitude of the boll weevil extension workers from the State College of Agriculture and the federal government has been outlined, following a conference with J. Phil Campbell, of Athens; C. B. Burley, now stationed at Albany in the work, and Mr. Oliver.

The statement says that the department will work in co-operation with all parties. The agents are to organize their counties into community clubs and the fight made through the organization. Two or three farmers in each community are to be selected to demonstrate how the cotton should be grown under the conditions and directions of the agents and authorities. These clubs shall also take up the matter of stock and feeds, which go hand in hand with the fight on the weevil.

The extension department of the State College of Agriculture is now issuing a large poster which carries detailed instructions for growing next year's crop. The agents will be instructed to stick up these posters at cross-roads, postoffices, country stores and at every place generally frequented by the farmer.

Five additional boll weevil specialists will be located in different sections of the state, to be called upon next spring when the heaviest fight is on with the boll weevil.

Extraordinary Assembly Jason Burr Council, No. 13, Royal and Select Masons

An interesting affair in Masonic circles will be the extraordinary assembly of Jason Burr council, No. 13, R. & S. M., to be held in the Masonic temple this afternoon and evening, when the three degrees of the council will be conferred in full form.

Beginning at 5 p. m. a short business meeting will be held, following which the degree of royal master will be conferred under the supervision of William S. Richardson and Perry L. Blackshear. At 6:30 the degree of select master will be conferred under the direction of Illustrious Companions Thomas, Shumaker and Blackshear, and at 8 p. m. the degree of super excellent master will be conferred under the direction of Illustrious Companions Thomas, Blackshear and Shumaker.

Several of the past illustrious masters of the order will be present, among them being William A. Sims, grand master of Georgia, and Joseph C. Greenfield, member of the grand council, both of whom will make addresses. Following the conferring of the degrees a banquet will be served in the rose room of the Hotel Winecoff, at which there will be several surprises, arranged by Lester S. Crane, T. I. M. of Jason Burr council, and Lee Hoyt Williams, recorder.

A large number of invitations have been sent out for this extraordinary assembly and a record-breaking attendance of companions is anticipated to witness the sublime degrees and participate in the good fellowship of the occasion.

EXODUS OF NEGROES NOT DUE TO POLITICS

Macon, Ga., November 14.—(Special.) That the exodus of negroes from this section of the country to the north was due to economic conditions and not to the activities of the republican party with a view to voting the negroes in the presidential election, was the opinion expressed here today by a government official, based on the investigation made here ten days ago by a representative of the department of justice.

This investigator is said to have found that no law had been violated in taking the negroes from the south. His report to the department of justice states that the negroes are leaving because of promise of higher wages and the belief that they will receive better treatment in the north.

STEAMER AT SAVANNAH SEARCHED FOR PLANE

Savannah, Ga., November 14.—Rumors to the effect that the Danish steamer Amphitrite had concealed below decks an aeroplane today caused custom officers to thoroughly search the ship, despite the fact that it had already been gone over once by the boarding officers.

The rumors were declared by George E. Morris, special deputy collector of customs, following the search, to be absolutely unfounded. "It appears to be the work of some malicious person," he said.

The rumor was further spread by the fact, it is thought, that the captain has on the ship a speedy hydroplane for his own use, and today purchased another motorboat. The terms aeroplane and hydroplane were probably confused.

MACON SURE TO HAVE BIG DIXIE CHAUTAUQUA

Macon, Ga., November 14.—(Special.) All doubt about Macon securing the big southern chautauqua which is to be located in this part of the country by the Chautauqua Lake association of New York, passed at noon today when the committee conducting the three-days campaign to raise the necessary $7,500 reported that 831 tickets at $5 each had been pledged. Mayor Smith states that by tomorrow night the entire 1,500 tickets will be pledged and the Southern Conference on Education and Industry will be notified that Macon stands ready to do her part.

The campaign to secure the chautauqua has been conducted by 10 prominent Macon people who have laid all other business matters aside for the three days, the city being divided into districts and thoroughly canvassed.

MRS. ADAMS INDICTED AS SPRATLING'S SLAYER

Macon, Ga., November 14.—(Special) Mrs. Mattie Stokes Adams, slayer of Captain E. J. Spratling, of the Fifth regiment, was indicted by the Bibb county grand jury today on a charge of murder. Because of her condition, Mrs. Adams will not likely be tried at the present term of court. Judge Mathews signed an order today permitting the sheriff to remove her to the Macon hospital. A visit from the stork is expected at an early date.

TEAT WILL BE TRIED FOR ALLEGED ASSAULT

Hardy Teat, a leader in the carmen's strike agitation, will be arraigned for trial in superior court Tuesday upon an indictment returned yesterday on the grounds of an attack alleged to have been made upon one of the men in his ranks whom Teat had accused of spying.

J. A. Harbin, a striking motorman, of 391 Woodward avenue, testified before the grand jury that he was attacked by Teat in the Red Men's wigwam Monday, at which time a large number of strikers and sympathizers was gathered. The witness presented physical as well as oral evidence to the effect that he had been vigorously assailed.

He said that Edward McMorrow, the Chicago union leader, had first advanced to him the suggestion that someone was carrying information to the trolley officials, and asked Harbin if he was guilty. Harbin says he replied that anyone who accused him was "a liar." This was relayed to Teat, who, according to the witness, applied the vile ephithet, then attacked Harbin.

New York, November 14.—There was a further advance of about $1.50 per bale in the cotton market here today with all deliveries making new high records for the season and with January contracts selling through the 20-cent level of about $8.50 per bale above the low point reached on the reaction of October 30. That delivery closed at 20.02, and the general list closed very steady at a net advance of 11 to 31 points for the day.

The market opened steady at an advance of 12 to 24 points in response to higher cables and the census figures on domestic mill consumption for the month of October. There was heavy realizing around the initial figures, and there may also have been some local selling on reports from Galveston that the British government had requisitioned all British steamers for grain and metals. This naturally led to apprehensions of restricted exports, but after a reaction of 10 to 12 points, the market firmed up again on active Wall street and western buying. As January approached the 20-cent level, increased offerings were again encountered and there was another setback during the middle of the day which carried January off to 19.81, March to 19.98 and May to 20.11. Offerings were very well absorbed around this level, however, and prices later showed renewed strength, on bullish spot advices, with January selling up to 20.05, March to 20.20 and May 20.37, or about 30 to 31 points net higher. The close was within 2 or 3 points of the best.

Some of the spot people here with English connections said they had been unable to confirm the reports from Galveston with reference to commandeering of British tonnage, and the most general opinion appeared to be that if such action had been taken, it would delay rather than actually cut down exports for the season. The census figures showing domestic mill consumption of 622,000 bales for October including linters, was considered about the line with recent estimates of this year's requirements.

20-Cent Mark Crossed.

New York, November 14.—Cotton assumed new strength in this market today and prices advanced to new high levels, both May and July crossing the 20-cent market to the highest quotations ever registered on this exchange. There were two periods of strength, one around the opening and one around the close. At the best of the day active months were 25 to 26 points up. The close was within a point of the high.

The initial bulge was stimulated by good cables, cold weather in the west, bull talk and the bullish report on American mill consumption by the census bureau, and it carried the market 17 to 22 points over yesterday's close. A period of comparative quiet followed with the market inclined to sag under realizing of profits by holders of long contracts. Late in the day reports of higher prices for spots braced up the market again. The quoting of spots at 20 cents a pound at Galveston and Houston excited much bullish comment. Locally spots rose 19 points to 19.38 for middling.

At the highest of the day July stood at 20.16. Many bullish traders claimed the market would have worked to higher levels but for the report that the British admiralty had ordered British ships to load nothing but metals and grain at United States ports.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, November 14.—(Special.)—Today's census report shows 622,057 bales for the month of October as the consumption of United States mills. This brings the season's total up to 1,843,225, against 1,669,519 last year, a gain of 173,706 bales, but the comparison is with the three smallest months of the entire season of last year. From December to June, inclusive last year, the consumption exceeded 600,000 and in March reached 694,000. Hence, our present rate of consumption will have to be increased if it shows any gain over last year after December 1. It is therefore hard to figure more than 7,500,000 consumption of American grown cotton by American mills for this year. The mills are carrying in their own warehouses 1,790,491 bales of cotton and linters, compared with 1,443,943 last year. When August 1 next rolls around it is doubtful if the mills will want to jump from the old crop to the new with more than 700,000 bales, hence for their future requirements they will absorb about 1,000,000 of their own warehouse stock.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, November 14.—(Special.)—Heavy general buying again occurred in this market today, advancing prices to the highest of the season. Fresh news was entirely lacking, but the firmness of the entire trade situation is such that buying appears to have come into the market in a natural way and gained in volume as prices advanced. While consumption continues at its present rate we see no prospect of a lower market this season.

BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New York, November 14.—(Special.)—The cotton market continued to advance today in response to higher Liverpool and interior spot prices. To a large extent the rebuying of contracts was for speculators who sold their holdings last week and seeing the market's tendency recovered them. Spinners bought nothing, but there is a speculative sentiment which dominates the market for the time being.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, November 14.—(Special.)—With the sharp advance in Liverpool to stimulate buying, today has been noticeable in the realizing by those long identified with the advancing market and the appearance of new buyers willing to invest at these very high prices as compared with other years. In the last hour this new demand brought about the rise which has come to be looked for each afternoon under the concentrated aggressive buying by the local leaders. Sentiment remains very bullish.

Neither the heavy movement or the larger crop estimates from the Atlantics are regarded seriously. The consumption figures were about what was expected, and if continued at this rate for the balance of the year will show the consumption of American cotton in America at about 7,500,000 bales. Spinners are shown to hold large reserve stocks, some 384,000 taken more than last year. The selling from the south continued all day, while the buying seems to be local and from the west.

HUBBARD BROS. CO.

A good demand was in evidence during the whole session Tuesday from various sources, with the selling scattered. Liverpool bought on the opening and Chicago was a good buyer during the morning. J. S. Bache & Co. bought considerable, apparently taking back what they sold last week. Heineken & Vogelsang were very large buyers. All spot news from all sections of the south were bullish. In the late trading a wave of Wall street and western buying came in and the bears to rout and sent prices skyward.

The cotton market was put to an extreme test of strength Tuesday, but at the end closed, as the Irishman would put it, "above the top," in other words, above the new high level established at the opening. Enormous profit-taking took place on the early bulge, heavy short selling and persistent hammering caused a reaction of a dozen points, but the absorption of contracts was so steady and continuous that the highest prices of the day and of the season were established just before the close. One of the amusing features of the day was the apparently concerted effort of shorts to talk the market down by spreading a rumor that an enormous long interest existed in the market and is lodged in weak hands. They failed to mention the fact that a great many spinners, who had protected themselves against their very extensive sales of goods for far-off delivery by purchases of contracts, allowed themselves to be tempted into selling out on the advance and taking down the substantial profits shown. These mills now find themselves in the position of having their product still sold far ahead, with prices of goods moving up daily and unable to replace their contracts at prices at which they were sold out. In other words, this is the most helpless short interest that has ever been in the cotton market. In this connection it is worth noting that the official census report shows holdings of northern and eastern manufacturers, both in mills and public warehouses, several thousand bales less than on October 31, last year, notwithstanding that the product has been sold for many more months ahead this season.

ADVANCE IN STOCKS DURING FINAL HOUR

Market Was Held Somewhat in Check, However, by Threatening Attitude of Railroad Brotherhoods.

New York, November 14.—Rails were almost the only laggards in today's broad and active market, being held in check by a renewal of the threatening attitude of the railroad brotherhoods. A few specialties, mostly of the semi-dormant variety, also displayed a reactionary tendency, particularly American linseed issues, the preferred losing 8 points after announcement of the restoration of dividends on a 3 per cent basis, and the common 4 points.

Trading during the first half of the session was marked by a series of declines and advances, which again denoted the uncertain temper of the professional element. In the final hour, however, the entire list rose briskly, even rails regaining much of their loss. The recovery was led by United States Steel at an extreme gain of 2⅞ points to 123½, with heavy buying of motors, the shipping shares, coppers and equipments, chief among these being New York Air Brake, which made an extreme advance of 14⅜ points on reports indicating a substantial disbursement to shareholders.

The more important new records of the day embraced Lackawanna Steel, 98⅛; Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies at 122; Miami Copper at 43⅝; American Writing Paper preferred at 62⅝; Union Bag and Paper at 128½; Detroit United Railways at 120½, and Colsolidated Gas of Baltimore at 129½.

Central Leather was again the weak feature of the opening, adding 3⅜ points to its recent reversal at 102½, but recovering to 109⅜ and closing at a 2⅝ net gain The rise in Mexicans had its basis in reports of improvement in the Mexican situation, American Smelting gaining 5⅜, with 4 for Mexican Petroleum and 2½ for Texas Company.

Virginia Iron, Marines, United Fruit, Crucible, Sloss-Sheffield and Gulf States Steels and Ohio Gas scored gains of 1½ points. The movement in the motor group seemed to dispel recent rumors of overproduction in that industry. Total sales amounts to 1,700,000 shares.

Bonds were irregular at the outset, but strengthened later, the feature being a 4½-point rise in American Smelters 6s. Total sales, par value, $5,360,000.

United States coupons 4s declined ⅝ of 1 per cent.

Nothing of a moving character doing in the grocery line has declined in price. All grades of coffee are off a half cent per pound. Sugar, too, is easier. Cheese advanced last week about 3 cents. Canned vegetables are increasingly difficult to secure and prices are firm. Practically all canned goods that have retailed at 10c for years will now have to be sold at 15c. Seemingly, no relief in sight until next year's crop.

NORWEGIAN WARSHIP FIRES ON GERMAN SHIP

German Vessel Refuses to Stop When Passing Stavanger.

Copenhagen, Denmark, November 14. (Via London.)—The Morgenbladt says that a Norwegian torpedo boat has fired upon a German steamer which refused to stop when passing Stavanger.

The Norwegian fired a shot at the rigging, the newspaper says, then boarded the steamer and dismantled her wireless.

Since the beginning of the war foreign ships have not been permitted to carry wireless installation when in Norwegian waters.

"DAYLIGHT SAVERS" TO HOLD CONVENTION

They Want to Set the Clock Forward an Hour in the United States.

New York, November 14.—The adoption of the daylight saving plan by setting the clock forward one hour in the United States through public concurrence, from May 1 to September 30, 1917, will be considered at a national daylight saving convention to be held here on January 30 and 31 next, plans for which were announced here today.

Chambers of commerce and boards of trade throughout the country will be represented, and the governors of all states, the mayors of 150 cities, the American Bankers' association and state banking organizations, the American Federation of Labor and other commercial, financial, labor and scientific bodies will be requested to send delegates.

The American Railway association has been asked to lend its support, and will consider the project at its semi-annual meeting here tomorrow. A report drawn up by a committee will be submitted tomorrow recommending that the roads should not agree to the plan until it has been previously adopted by the principal business and municipal centers, together with the state and local authorities. Individually, many of the railroad presidents favor the plan, according to information received by the New York daylight saving committee.

This committee, appointed by Marcus M. Marks, president of the Borough of Manhattan, will confer with railroad heads and financial interests before the convention and will endeavor to learn from the attorney general of the United States whether it is constitutional for congress to enact a daylight saving law. The committee has been informed by the legislative reference bureau in Washington that such a statute is not constitutional, according to Mr. Marks. Many congressmen have written individually favoring the plan.

On behalf of the committee, a scientific study of daylight saving as it would affect the United States is being made by Professor Harold Jacoby, astronomer of Columbia university, who will report his findings to the convention.

A report prepared by the committee estimates that the proposed plan would effect a saving of upward of $40,000,000 in the people's gas and electric bills next summer.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF
Hair becomes charming, wavy, lustrous and thick in few moments.
Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.
For 25 cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Building news was scarce yesterday, although recorded business disclosed two new small sales.

The past ten days has seen a great deal of activity in real estate circles, and there have been a large number of sales disclosed.

The next ten days also promise to disclose some important business. Agents this week have closed up $85,000 and a $60,000 sales, besides a number of smaller ones.

Small Sales.

H. A. Etheridge sold to Joseph S. Reynolds lots one to fifteen in the Fulton Heights subdivision, fronting on St. John's avenue. The consideration was $5,000.

The National Investment company sold to L. J. Hood a parcel, 672x636, on the south side of Baker road and the north side of Hightower road, the consideration being $3,000.

MONEY IN CAMPAIGN TO BE INVESTIGATED

Senate to Begin Thorough Probe—Justice Department Already at Work.

Washington, November 14.—Definite plans were laid by administration leaders today for having the senate begin an investigation as soon as congress convenes of the use of money in the last presidential campaign. Several senators have discussed the question with officials of the administration and it was said tonight that the investigation will be held beyond question.

Suggestions were made that President Wilson might mention the subject in his next annual message to congress in recommending passage of a corrupt practices act, but some officials thought he would take the position that he should leave the question to the senate in view of the fact that he himself was a candidate. Senator Reed, of Missouri, will confer with the president tomorrow, and the question may be brought up at that time.

As outlined by officials today the investigation will be very thorough, and will include the cross-examination of wealthy men supposed to have made campaign contributions as well as of the men in charge of the spending of money raised for the campaign.

Colonizing of Voters.

Investigation into alleged attempts to colonize illegal voters in Indiana and West Virginia particularly was begun before the election. In those states democratic leaders are planning to contest the election of United States senators. Before the polls had closed last Tuesday charges of corruption were openly made by democratic chieftains.

Evidence is being gathered upon which to base contests in the election of Harry S. New and James E. Watson as senators from Indiana, and Representative Howard Sutherland as senator in West Virginia. New defeated Majority Leader Kern and Watson won from Senator Taggart. Sutherland in West Virginia defeated Senator Chilton. It has been charged by democrats that negroes were colonized from the south in states where the republicans triumphed by small majorities.

If contests are brought they will have to be initiated in the new senate, as each legislative body is the judge of its own members. The democrats will control the new senate by twelve votes.

The department of justice announced that its investigation will proceed in various states despite the fact that the elections are over, and said that prosecutions were to follow where the law has been violated.

Republicans Won't Object.

New York, November 14.—"The republican national committee will welcome the fullest investigations of every penny spent by it," Chairman William R. Willcox said here today, when informed of the steps for a senatorial investigation, announced at Washington.

He said that no charges or information as to alleged misuse of funds in the campaign had been sent to any officials in Washington by the republican committee.

Frank Reynolds, Popular Ansley Publicity Man, Fifty-Eight Years Young

Despite the fact that every attache, from the general superintendent to bus boy, was overworked to the extent of his capacity, the Hotel Ansley found time to do a bit of celebrating last night in honor of the fifty-eighth birthday of the genial and popular Frank Reynolds, publicity manager.

The convention of southern physicians has filled every prominent hotel to its bursting bounds, but the Ansley reserved one ample and comfortable room for the observance of the publicity man's celebration. And therein were staged many little things conducive to the enjoyment of every member of the hotel's staff, as well as of the number of newspaper men who dropped around for their share of the evening's entertainment.

Frank Reynolds has been known to Atlanta newspaper men ever since the year 9, it seems. He has been associated with either some political or hotel or civic or newspaper or state project as long as such things seem to have existed. He is one of the most popular men who ever dabbled in publicity, and similar et cetera. That he is 58 years of age is a big surprise.

Nobody would have thought from his sprightliness of mind and spirit that his grandfather could have been that old.

SON OF HENRY GEORGE PASSES IN WASHINGTON

Washington, November 14.—Former Congressman Henry George, son of Henry George of single tax fame, died here today after a long illness. He formerly represented the twenty-first congressional district of New York. He was 54 years old and maintained his home in New York city.

BRYCE URGES LEAGUE FOR PERMANENT PEACE

London, November 14.—While emphasizing that Great Britain must fight the present war to victory, Viscount Bryce, former ambassador to the United States, made a plea for a league of nations to insure permanent peace, at a meeting of the Mayflower club today. The club is composed of British and Americans and has as its object the perpetuation of the memory of the Pilgrims. The meeting was held in the house of commons reception room, and among those present was Walter H. Page, American ambassador.

"This war has brought upon the world more widespread calamities than any war," Viscount Bryce said. "We are asking ourselves whether we must expect such calamities to go on recurring in the future. Is all this suffering to have been in vain? After the war will international fears, hatreds and suspicions return and will great armaments—a still heavier burden to already impoverished peoples—have again to be maintained?

"The only method suggested to prevent these things is a combination of peace-loving nations to be formed after the war and after the treaty of settlement for the purpose of establishing a permanent peace. The simplest way of doing this is to require that every international dispute shall be submitted to arbitration or concillation before any resort to arms. Such a plan could not be carried out without the co-operation of neutral nations, and especially of the greatest of the neutral nations.

"The United States had hitherto stood apart in isolation. But isolation is no longer possible. Every country is now affected and its safety threatened by the spirit of anti-democratic aggression. The United States has avoided entangling alliances. But a league of peace would be no entangling alliance. It would be a smoothing down and straightening out of difficulties that threaten to embroil the world.

"Already many leading statesmen have proposed such a scheme as I have outlined. Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes have given it their hearty approval; public opinion in both parties alike is daily growing in its favor.

Referring to the presidential election in the United States, Lord Bryce said:

"All that would be fitting to say here is that we admire the tranquillity and perfect order with which such a gigantic piece of work as the casting of a vote over the whole continent has been conducted and we admire no less the dignity and moderation of language displayed during the exciting contest by the two candidates, both men conspicuous for their ability and force of character."

Professor Gilbert Murray, of Oxford, gave an interesting review of the American attitude toward the war as he learned it during a recent visit to the United States. He declared that the war would not result in the perpetuation of hatred between the belligerent peoples. He also approved of a league for maintaining peace between nations.

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS

Conditions are favorable to the buyer at this time; he figures on low prices and conservative rentals. There is no inflation in prices; no inflation in rentals to mislead the judgment.

The small trader who buys stocks or bonds is in competition with millionaires, men who have unlimited money and inside sources of information.

In the field of small real estate investments the man of moderate means has it all to himself; millionaires do not invade that field. The small trader can make profits and good income, coupled with absolute safety.

Have It Done Right

In an audit of your business you want, above everything else, accuracy. You want to know all the facts.

A partial or an incorrect audit by an inexperienced accountant is often worse than no audit at all.

For accuracy, for ALL the facts, be sure you employ a firm of established reputation, that KNOWS its business. Have it done right; there is no other satisfactory way.

New-Life Vibrators
---are expert electrical masseures---

Madam Davenport, an expert on Health and Hygiene, says: "Friction should be applied to the body every day to bring the blood to the surface, for it throws off waste matter and renews the skin."

The New-Life Vibrator exercises the organs of the body by stimulating the circulation of the blood, which assists them to perform their functions in a perfectly normal and natural manner.

Such exercise eliminates the cause of disease and keeps the body well and strong. It rubs out and removes unsightly wrinkles—cleanses the pores of the skin, and gives a perfectly clear and smooth complexion.

If you suffer from headaches, neuralgia, indigestion, constipation, rheumatism, stiff joints, or are afflicted with facial blemishes; if your scalp is full of dandruff—buy this New-Life Vibrator, for it performs the work of a trained masseuer and does it more quickly, thoroughly and pleasantly.

"Your landlord has gone mad, I hear."

"Yes, ma'am; we took him off to the asylum yesterday.

"Who would have thought it? And how did you find out that he was wrong in his head?"

"There was no possible doubt whatever; he had lowered the rents all round."—Pearson's Weekly.
